THEODORE DURRANT.

The Accused Murderer of Miss Lamont on Trial.

District Attorney Barnes Opens the Case With an Address Outlining the Course of the Prosecution.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3 —The actual trial of Theodore Durrant for the murder of Blanche Lamont commenced today. District Attorney Barnes delivered the opening address, which is as follows:

At this point in the trial and before proceeding with the evidence it becomes my duty as a representative of the people to make what is called the opening statement of the case. The opening statement should not be regarded by you in the light of testimony, neither should it be regarded as an argument upon the facts. It should not have any weight with you, nor should you consider it as a mitigation against the prisoner. It is merely a statement of what the people expect to prove—a statement of the evidence which they intend to set for your consideration, and upon which they will confidently rely for a verdict at your hands which shall sweep away the sophistries and the technicalities that have enveloped criminal proceedings in this state as with a garment, and shall declare that the land we live in is blessed not only with the manifold gifts of nature and of God to man, but is further blessed with the hard, clear common sense that can rise above the tortorous environments that surrounds the criminal and punish the crime committed in the manner required and demanded by all laws, both human and divine.

We will show you that in the month of September, 1894, Blanche Lamont, a young girl about twenty years of age, came to San Francisco from her home at Dillon, Mont., in the hope that the mild climate of California might benefit her health. She went to reside with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Noble, and from the time of her arrival here until April 3, she was engaged in attending school. She was not a society girl in any sense of the word. She was of a quiet disposition, home keeping and religious. She never attended parties nor theatres or other places of amusement, except in company with her relatives.

We will show that Blanche Lamont in her life time was well, too well, and yet not well enough acquainted with the prisoner, Durrant; that he was in the habit of accompanying her home from church and prayer meetings; that he was a caller upon her at her aunt's house; that upon the only occasion upon which she ever went anywhere with any young man, as far as we are informed, she visited the park one afternoon in company with Durrant. We will give you a history of her life and her movements, as far as we are able, up to the 3d of April, 1895, in order that you may form a just appreciation of the character and the habits of this unfortunate young girl. We will show you her connection with the defendant and we will show you the reason why, when the murdered body of Blanche Lamont was found in the darkened belfry of Emanuel church, and the question sprang from the lips of every resident of this city and of this county: 'Who is the murderer?'

Why is it that the state answers that he who was responsible for the slaughter of this young life is William Henry Theodore Durrant—Durrant, once the friend of Blanche Lamont; Durrant, once in charge of the Sunday school libraries; Durrant, once assistant superintendent of the Emanuel Sunday school; Durrant, once the electrician who knew the ins and outs of the great building; Durrant, once the handy man and jack of all trades at the church, and now Durrant, the prisoner, and on trial for his life? We shall show Durrant's connection with the case; shall demonstrate by irrefutable and unanswerable evidence, that he, and he alone, committed the murder. If we show you these facts—show you that Durrant met this ill-fated girl on the day of her death; that he accompanied her to the church; that he was seen to enter the church with her, that he was seen afterwards in the church alone, that Blanche Lamont was never seen again by human eyes from the moment when she entered the portals of Emanuel Baptist church with the defendant, that in the church was found her dead body, her clothes, her school books—showing that she had never been home—and that she had gone straight from her school to her death; if we show you, as we confidently expect to, that no one but the prisoner could have committed this outrageous and horrible crime, we shall look to you as a citizens of the great state whose reputation for justice and for enforcement of the laws, we, as its officers, are to uphold, to render your verdict that the prisoner at the bar is guilty of murder in the first degree.

CHOLERA IN HONOLULU

Creates a Scare Among the Pacific Coast People.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 3 —The prevalence of cholera in Honolulu and the Orient has created a scare here. The local board of health is already adopting stringent measures to repel its invasion. City Physician Wheeler says that at no time have Pacific coast cities been so seriously menaced by the scourge as now. Winter is no protection against the disease, as the germs flourish in all temperatures. He says the situation is alarming; people must not be deceived; and health ordinances must be vigorously enforced. All vessels coming here from foreign ports will be carefully examined and quarantined if necessary.

BRICE'S TRUNK LINE.

New York and Chicago to be Closely Connected.

The First Important Step Was the Purchasing Today of the C. A. & C. Stock.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 3 —The Cleveland, Akron and Columbus railroad is no more. Calvin S. Brice has at last gained control of the line and will hereafter guide its fortunes. Yesterday the board of directors, consisting of Frank Rockefeller, William Chisholm, J. H. Hoyt, L M Cole and G. W. Saul, met and after a long and exciting session the finishing touch was put on a railroad deal that puts Mr. Brice in control of the road. Senator Brice was not present, but was represented by Col. A. L. Conger and C. N. Haskell. The main business transacted was the sale of over 10,000 shares of stock owned and controlled by President G. W. Saul for nearly $500,000 After the transfer Calvin S Brice was unanimously elected president of the new organization. The new board of directors and officials have not yet been named. The Cleveland, Akron and Columbus will undoubtedly be used as a link in Mr. Brice's trunk line from Chicago to New York.

INDIANS BLAMELESS.

Had Nothing to Do With Instigating Trouble.

They Are Under Perfect Control and Afraid to Say Boo to a Goose, Says General Coppinger.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—General Coppinger, who had command of the recent military expedition to the Jackson's Hole country, is in the city and today had a conference with Secretary Lamont, to which Commissioner of Indian Affairs Browning was invited. "I do not consider the Indians were to blame for the Jackson Hole affair," said General Coppinger at the close of the conference. "They are entirely quiet now, and have been, in fact. They would not say boo to a goose." One question which the general brought to the attention of Secretary Lamont and Commissioner Browning was the advisability of annexing the Jackson Hole country to the Yellowstone National park. He suggested that this action would solve the problem by preventing all parties hunting and fishing in that section, and said that as the country was not densely settled he thought there would be comparatively little difficulty in making the change. Commissioner Browning, replying to the suggestion said that in the first place it would be a matter for Secretary Smith and then for congress, adding that he did not know how the people of Wyoming would regard it, as it would deprive that state of the territory with which it may not desire to part. General Coppinger had his report on the Indian trouble with him, and it was gone over quite thoroughly. The report has been turned over to Secretary Lamont and he is not yet prepared to give it out. The general, in reply to a question, said that the report was brief. He declined to say whether he had made any recommendations for the continuance of troops in the Jaackson Hole country or for the punishment of those who had precipated the trouble.

Bank Closed.

STORM LAKE, Iowa, Sept. 3.—Great excitement prevails over the closing of the Buena Vista state bank. Depositors are largely people with earnings of years entrusted to the bank. Its doors were closed yesterday morning and a big crowd fills the streets. It would only need a word to lead to deeds of violence, the business methods of the Lemon family, who are in the institution, having caused great indignation.

BELONGS TO THE STATE

Does the Accretion Lands Adjacent to Chicago.

Uncle Sam Has No Claim Upon Them and the Secretary of the Interior Has So Announced.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3 —The acting secretary of the interior has rendered three important decisions regarding the ownership of immensely valuable accretion lands lying north of the Chicago river in the city of Chicago. The gist of the decisions is that the land does not belong to the United States government, but probably does belong to the state of Illinois. The first case is that of George W. Streeter and P. T. Johnson, who applied to make homestead entry of about 150 acres of land lying on both sides of the Chicago river at its mouth in Lake Michigan. It is a portion of land filled in by dumping on the meander line established by the government survey in 1821, and the present water line. Johnson claims to have lived there in a house built on piles for sixteen years and Streeter claims to have been wrecked there in 1886 and to have lived there for two years. Technically, this land is part of sections 3 and 10 of township 39, and these sections, the secretary says, were selected by the state of Illinois in 1827 for canal purposes under authority of an act of congress. The secretary says that the state of Illinois owns the lands under the navigable waters of Lake Michigan within its limits and that the filling in by any person or corporation, not the owners of shore lands, gives them no riparian rights. In any case he says the United States government has no title, and therefore could convey none to any claimants. The second case is that of Jacob Nine and others against N. K. Fairbanks and others. The former tried to locate military bounty land warrants on 120 acres of accretion land north of the Chicago river, between the original survey meander line and the present water line. The secretary decides that the United States has no title to the land. The thire case is that of Peter T. Johnson, who joined with Streeter in the first mentioned application to locate Valentine scrip on fifty-five acres of accretion land south of the Chicago river. It is rejected like the others for want of title by the United States government.

Two Wealthy Young People Will Marry.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept 3 —The engagement of Miss Gertrude Vanderbilt and Mr. Moses Taylor, though not formally announced, is now conceded by their friends. The attachment is a most natural one. FRAKER CAPTURED.

Detectives Find Him in the Wilds of Minnesota.

The Man Who Had $58,000 Insurance and Plays the Part of a Dead Man Comes to Grief.

DULUTH, Minn., Sept. 2 —George Fraker, of Topeka, Kas., the man who was supposed to have been drowned in the Missouri river two years ago, was captured in the woods near Tower, Minn., yesterday. Fraker's life was insured for $58,000, and the heirs brought suit in the Kansas courts to recover. The case went to the supreme court and was one of the most famous insurance cases of the country. The insurance companies were defeated in the final decision, it being recorded last month.

It was always maintained by the companies that Fraker was alive, but his whereabouts were unknown. Recently it became known in someway that Fraker was near Tower, where he was known under the alias of Schnell. Attorney Robert T. Harris and Deputy Sheriff Wilkinson, of Topeka, came here and organized a party to search for him.

Fraker was found in the woods and his capture was effected in a stragetic manner. He was brought to Duluth today and was taken to Topeka at once. Fraker will go with out a requisition. He has been living near Tower for six months. He admitted his identity, and said he did not leave home on purpose to defraud the companies, but that while he was near the Missouri river he fell in. He swam across the river and got on land. The next day he read in the papers that he had been drowned and concluded to carry out the deception and allow his heirs to collect the insurance.

BALLOON BATTERY.

From the Clouds It Rains Down Leaden Hail.

An Invention Which Will Lead to Speedy Extermination of Warring Factions.

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 3.—Samuel Andrews, a machinist in this city, claims to have perfected a war balloon which he has sold to a syndicate of New York Cubans for use in the aid of the Cuban insurgents.

The balloon has been thoroughly tested in the fields of New Jersey, and is said to work perfectly. Instead of an ordinary car, it is fitted with an armored box, from which a number of bombs can be suspended.

The bombs are ignited and released by automatic machinery in the box, and after all are discharged the box explodes, destroying the balloon and the secret mechanism.

The machinery is worked by a steel spring. Andrews claims to have a device by which he can control the direction of the balloon.

SLASHED WITH A KNIFE.

Sherman W. Abrams Rushes to the Assistance of a Cripple

And For His Humane Deed He Receives Three Cuts on the Face and One on the Hand.

Between 8 and 9 o'clock last night occurred a most serious cutting affray at the saloon of John Nolan, at the corner of Lafayette and Hamilton streets. At that time Sherman W. Abrams, a switchman for the Pennsylvania company, was going home, and when he arrived at the place above mentioned he heard loud voices in the saloon and went inside to see what was going on. When he got inside he found that a man nicknamed "Saws" and Frank Conners were teasing Tony Rosenberger, a cigarmaker.

Abrams went to the assistance of Rosenberger, who is a cripple, and insisted that the men should stop plaguing him, but "Saws" paid no attention to the warning. Seeing this, Abrams went for the man and pummeled him in good style. Connors attempted to separate the men when he saw them fighting He grabbed hold of Abrams to pull him off the other man, and it was while Conners had hold of Abrams that the man "Saws" got in his work with a knife, inflicting on Abrams several ugly looking gashes, one extending from the base of the skull at the back of the head to the front of the neck, exposing the arteries so that one could them pulsating. Another cut extended a distance of four inches across the left cheek, downward from the eye, and another and smaller cut on the same cheek. His right hand was also split open.

Abrams was taken to the office of Dr. A. J. Kesler, where his wounds were dressed, and he was then taken to his home, No. 31 LaSelle street. Dr. Kesler states that the wounds will not prove dangerous unless suppuration sets in.

KILLED BY A FALL.

Mrs. Geo. Baldwin Meets With Death by an Accident.

She Falls From a Street Car and Breaks Her Neck—Minor Accidents.

Mrs. George Baldwin, of 11 Hough street, got on a street car last night to go to the entertainment at Berghoff's park, on East Washington street, When near the corner of Walter and East Washington streets her hat was blown from her head and in attempting to catch it she fell backward off the car and struck on the back of her head with great force. Mrs. Baldwin was picked up and carried into Freese's grocery store and Dr. W. F. Schrader summoned, but before medical assistance could be rendered the woman's life had fled.

The remains were taken to her home by Undertaker Peltier and Coroner Harrod made an investigation of the accident and rendered a verdict of accidental death, as the woman's neck had been broken by the fall from the car.

Mrs. Baldwin was about thirty-five years old and has lived in Fort Wayne since childhood. She leaves a husband and two children, a boy aged twelve and a girl of fourteen, both by a former husband.

The funeral will occur Thursday morning at 10 o'clock from the house, and the interment will be at Lindenwood cemetery.

OTHER ACCIDENTS.

Harry Quinn, of 90 Thomas street, was run into by a bicycle rider on the track at Centlivre's park yesterday and knocked down. His leg was badly skinned and several teeth were loosened.

The three-year-old son of Fred Scheimann, of East Jefferson street, climbed into the hay loft yesterday afternoon. On attempting to descend the little fellow missed his footing and fell to the floor below, sustaining a severe scalp wound and painful injuries about the body and limbs. Dr. Duemling attended.

Miss Minnie McWhorter was struck in the back by a batted ball yesterday afternoon at Centlivre's park and had to be taken home in a carriage.

Charles Adams, a wheelman en route from Annapolis, Md., to Peru, Ind., fell yesterday and fractured his right arm. He was taken to Hope hospital and Dr. Schrader reduced the fracture.

Joshua Gerard, of Holman street, fell down stairs Sunday afternoon and sustained painful injuries. Dr. George C. Stemen, the attending physician, found three ribs had been fractured.

Today Reinholt Liebmann was taking his father-in-law's dinner to him at the Bass works, and when on Hanna street the horse he was driving ran away, throwing him out of the buggy and mashing his nose. Dr. Will Ferguson dressed the injury. The horse was picked up by the police at the corner of Hanna and Charles streets.

COUNTY ORPHANS' HOME.

Commissioners Receive Bids for Its Construction.

The monthly meeting of the Humane society was held yesterday afternoon in T. E. Ellison's office and the report of the agent was received. It was then decided to send as a delegate to the national convention of Humane societies, which meets in Minneapolis, Louis C. Schlaudroff, the local agent.

The trustees of the Allen County Orphan's Home held a meeting directly after and received the report of the building committee, of which Mr. Ellison is the chairman. The highest bid was that of William Thurman, $6,617 40 for building and $827 for the contagious ward. The lowest bid was that of Korte & Son, $4,852 for building and $656 for contagious ward. The building is to be done by the 15th day of November. The contract will be let this week. The report of Mrs. G. D. Crane, chairman of the visiting committee, shows that in the past two months good homes have been found for seven children. There are thirteen children for the home.

In a State of Bankruptcy

—is the condition of our system if the liver becomes inactive so that the germs and poisons can accumulate within the body. Keep the liver and bowels active and we're in a condition of healthy prosperity and have sufficiently well invested capital to draw upon in the hour of need. The liver filters out the poisonous germs which enter the system. Just so surely as the liver regulates the system, so do Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate the liver. Keep this in mind, and you solve the problem of good health and good living. The "Pleasant Pellets" have a tonic, strengthening effect upon the lining membranes of the stomach and bowels, which effectually cures Biliousness, Sick Headache, Costiveness, or Constipation, Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Bad Taste in Mouth, Sour Risings from Stomach, and will often cure Dyspepsia. The "Pellets" are tiny, because the vegetable extracts are refined and concentrated. Easy in action, no griping as with old-fashioned pills. As a "dinner pill," to promote digestion, take one each day after dinner. To relieve the distress arising from overeating, nothing equals one of these little "Pellets."

MRS. ATWATER.

MRS. MELISSA ATWATER, of Steuben, Washington Co., Me., writes: "As regards the little 'Pellets,' I think I could not do without them. I do not like to be without them in the house. I have spoken very highly to friends and neighbors of them, and many are taking them through my advertising them. I will say they are the best pill I can take, especially for an after-dinner pill, I think they have no equal."

THE Delphi Times proposes to try a daily issue.

LABOR had magnificent weather for the celebration of their anniversary day.

MR. S. E. MORSS, consul general to Paris, is home on a visit and looking after his interests as editor and proprietor of the Indianapolis Sentinel.

THE Labor day addresses delivered by Judge S. M. Hench, C. H. Bliss and Mayor Oakley, at Centlivre's park yesterday, were fine oratorical efforts and warmly praised by the large number of people who heard them.

THOUSANDS of people will turn their eyes, if not their thoughts, heavenward tonight to look at the eclipse of the moon. By standard time the eclipse will be total a few minutes after 10 o'clock and will remain so until 12:48 o'clock.

IT IS understood that the report on the Nicaragua canal now in the hands of Secretary Lamont, is favorable to the canal, but bears somewhat heavily on the methods of the canal company, particularly as to estimates of the amount needed to complete the canal. The commission says it will take $115,000,000 to complete the canal, which is $45,000,000 more than the company's estimate.

EVERY person should have a good word for the centennial. Let us try to get some of the big excursions headed this way, instead of sending the crowds out of the city. We have one of the best cities in the world and we should take delight in showing it up to our neighbors and friends. The coming centennial celebration should bring to Fort Wayne one of the largest crowds ever seen here and it looks now as if such would be the case.

POLITICIANS of both parties are dubious as to the prospects of raising the necessary funds for the campaign of next year. The manufacturers from whom the major part of subscriptions come are no longer excitable about the tariff. Since the enactment of the present law they have cultivated the belief that neither party is an enemy to American industries and that public sentiment will not tolerate much tinkering with the present tariff.

MR. PERRY A. RANDALL has a strong letter in THE SENTINEL today on the question of purchasing the gravel roads and making them free. This is one of the most important questions that Allen county has to settle. Years ago our gravel roads should have been made free and it is a shame and disgrace that people have to pay toll in a free country like this. It costs almost as much to drive over the toll roads as it does to ride on the railroads. Hundreds of farmers are kept away from Fort Wayne every week by this outrageous charging of toll

THE county commissioners are to be commended for their action in refusing to give a saloon license to an applicant for a renewal against whom it was proven that he had been conducting his saloon in an improper manner, by selling liquor to minors and on Sundays, and that he had been arrested for having violated the Nicholson law. The business of the saloonkeeper is such that it, at all times, ought to be kept within the strict requirements of the law and the saloonkeeper who does not thus conduct it ought not to be allowed to have a liquor license.

MILLIONAIRE M. F. PAYNE, who died a few days ago at his home in Malvern, Iowa, was a life-long friend of Jefferson Davis, and when the latter was elected president of the Southern Confederacy he appointed Payne secretary of the interrior, but he never served in that capacity. On the contrary, he came north and settled in Fremont county, Iowa, where he amassed a fortune estimated at from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000. He owned land in every state in the union except one, though the most of his estate was in Fremont county, where he had 16,000 acres. When Jefferson Davis died he owed Mr. Payne $100,000. Payne was called to Davis' home in Mississippi to preach his funeral sermon. Mr. Payne left most of his fortune to charitable institutions.

Legal Character of Labor Day.

Labor day in Indiana is not a full legal holiday, though generally observed in cities by abstention from the usual occupations, and by the closing of banks, boards of trade and other places of business. The holidays in Indiana as to commercial paper are the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday, the 1st day of January, the 4th day of July, the 25th day of December, any day appointed or recommended by the president of the United States or the governor of the state of Indiana as a public fast or thanksgiving; the 22d day of February, commonly called Washington's birthday; the 30th of May, called Memorial day, and the first Monday in September, called Labor day. These and the day of any general national or state election shall be legal holidays within the state of Indiana, and all bills of exchange bank checks, promissory notes or other negotiable or commercial paper falling due or maturing on either of said holidays shall be deemed as having matured on the day previous. When the legal holiday comes on Sunday the day following shall be the holiday. The law does not forbid the sale of liquors on Labor day. The observance of the day so far as the cessation from work is concerned, is left wholly to the individual to decide for himself. This, however, is true of all the other holidays in the year, Sundays alone excepted. Labor day is also a legal national holiday. The postmaster says that in accordance with the rules the office is closed just as on the Fourth of July. All of the federal offices are closed.

The state arbitration law recently passed in Illinois is one of the best devised hitherto. Under its provisions the board of arbitration will consist of three members. Of these one must be an employer of labor and another must be a workingman and a member of a labor organization. Any strike or lockout in an establishment employing more than 25 workmen may legally be taken in hand by the board. It will investigate both sides and recommend to the two opposing parties such settlement as seems to it wise. Of course the law cannot compel either side to accept the settlement, but a recommendation of the state board will undoubtedly have due weight. One provision of the law is that no two members of the board shall be of the same political party. A state in which this law is in force will need to keep on hand a varied assortment of political parties.

If the new submarine boat built in France for the Brazilian government does what is claimed for it, then even sunken torpedoes will no longer be a reliable defense for a harbor. The new boat is small in size, but can remain under water 15 hours. It is not necessary to depend on the outer air for ventilation, for reservoir tubes of oxygen inside the vessel itself will supply this. As the air gets foul it will be pumped out of the vessel down into the sea. An electric motor will propel the craft. The little vessel is cigar shaped. It is expected that it will be able to hunt about under water for concealed torpedoes, and also to cut the wires which are expected to explode torpedoes under ships. Three men compriso the crew.

Minnesota has made provision for giving much pleasure and profit to that put upon class of community, farmers' wives. At the state university this season there has been in session a summer school of dairying and domestic economy. It was an experiment to find out whether farmers' wives and daughters desired to be scientifically instructed in their special lines of work. The result was most encouraging. There were many students, in age ranging from 16 upward. The making of various kinds of delicious cheeses at home was taught. So was the manufacture of butter according to the most scientific methods. Cooking and chemical lectures completed the instruction in this invaluable course.

There are hundreds of millions of dollars in Europe awaiting investment. Just so soon as the United States can convince the owners of this money that her railroads are getting out of the hands of receivers, that her vast industries are on a sound financial basis, her business men strictly honest, capable, and men of their word, then the gold of Europe will begin to flow to this country so fast that we shall not know what to do with it.

The sultan says he will at once issue a "decree of reform." Reform in Turkey means what it does to an American ward politician.

DOWN WITH THE GATE.

Strong Letter From P. A. Randall on Toll Roads.

Allen County Should Have Free Gravel Roads and Now is the Opportune Time for Action.

To the Editor of THE SENTINEL:

It is stated that seven out of thirteen toll roads in the state of Indiana are in Allen county. Allen county leads in nearly everything; but it can hardly be to her credit that she outstrips all the rest of the state in this relic of by-gone ages, toll roads. With thirteen out of the twenty main wagon roads entering the city of Fort Wayne, now free gravel roads, it seems to say nothing more, that these seven should also be free. We shall celebrate this fall the centennial of our city, why would it not be a good time to celebrate also the freeing of our city from this incubus of the past?

The county commissioners have been laboring with the problem all summer, but have not been able to see their way clear to come to the terms of the gravel road owners. The county commissioners are conservative men, watching the interests of the public and will not pay more for these roads than they believe they are worth. I think all fair minded men commend them in this. If they were reckless enthusiasts in this matter and ready to give away the people's money to an extent not justified by their judgment, we should expect the same of them in other things. To some of us who are interested only in the good of the city of Fort Wayne and the county the conservative policy of the commissioners has been a cause of severe comment. To us the giving of a few thousand dollars, more or less, for accomplishing an object so beneficial, has seemed a little matter. Some of us, too, have been inclined to criticise the gravel road owners for refusing to come to the terms proposed by the commissioners, and have charged them with niggardliness and lack of public spirit and have perhaps said things that were even more uncomplimentary than these. Still, when we calmly consider the matter, we ought not to condemn the road owners for wanting pay for their property. At one time we thought them benefactors to the public When the country roads were almost impassible and the public would do nothing to make them better, we were only to thankful that there were men in the community who were willing to invest their money to make good roads. The great cost of building these roads has left very small profits to their owners. We ought not to forget past favors so soon. A fair consideration ought to be had for these property interests. At least the owners of the roads are justified in getting what they can out of their properties.

On the other hand, it must be taken into account that these roads can be built much cheaper today than formerly; that they have been paralleled by free gravel roads until they make but a small return on the capital invested and the most of them are in a bad state of repair, and it would cost the county a great deal to put them in good order. They never will serve as a good investment for their owners again. These men are like many other classes of business men—they have had the life of their business taken away by the advancement of the age, like the owners of the old stage coach line that had their property ruined by the steam cars, or the owners of the old horse cars that had them thrown to the rubbish pile by the incoming electric car, or as the owners of the old time printing presses had to make scrap of their once valuable machinery to make room for the improved kind of printing presses.

The age advances so fast that what was new yesterday is old today, and no one dares make investments without taking this into account, nor hold on to investments already made without carefully considering the consequences.

But after all is said and done, the fact remains that we have the toll roads with us, and are likely to have them with us for a long time yet as a menace to our county's interests, unless something extraordinary is done to get rid of them It is folly to talk of destroying them by parallel lines. This could, of course, be done, but there is no wisdom in doing it, for the cost o parallel lines would be double that of buying the roads already built, besides these roads are better located than the parallel lines could possibly be, and the people have built with reference to them, and it would damage incaculably many of the best homes of the country to change the main lines of travel.

What then shall be done? I would suggest that a mass meeting be held at the circuit court room to take action in the matter, and that people along the lines of these roads as well as the citizens of Fort Wayne and the county in general be asked to attend this meeting. This mass meeting could appoint committees to confer with the commissioners and the owners of the roads and ascertain the differences between them. Committees could also be appointed if thought necessary, to raise funds to pay these differences. The time is ripe for this. For the next seven weeks the attention of our citizens will be directed to our city and its needs. Its past will be recalled, its achievements for the past 100 years recounted, its present proud position declaimed and its grand future prophesied. During this time, we will learn to be patriots and all will be filled with the zeal of public spirit. Not only will the citizens of Fort Wayne feel this public spirit but it will extend to the whole county. The city of Fort Wayne belongs to the whole county and every man and woman in it is interested in its success. This is the proper time to take hold of the question of freeing the gravel roads. It will give us another reason to celebrate. Let us have the mass meeting and set the ball a rolling We can celebrate a county free from toll roads this fall if we will.

Roy Peibles Enters a Bicycle Race Under an Assumed Name.

PANA, Ill., Sept. 3.—It is reported that "D. B. Saunders," who won the mile and repeat bicycle race and cash prize at the fair here Friday, is a ringer his real name being Roy Peibles, a crack rider in class A of the League of American Wheelmen, who a week ago won a race at St. Louis, defeating the best rider of the country. His race here, if it really was Peibles, forever debars him from racing at League meets.

The Tobacco War.

The present war exisiting between the big plug tobacco manufacturers is proving very interesting for the consumers, they being the only ones who are profiting by this war. The manufacturers are unquestionably losing a great deal of money, and, as far as we can see, the whole cause of the war is on account of a brand of plug tobacco called "Battle Ax," which appears to be as powerful a weapon as its name implies. The manufacturers of "Battle Ax" claim it to be the largest piece of high-grade goods ever sold for the money. And the success of the brand, the enormous quantity which is being sold, clearly demonstrates that the consumers have not been slow in detecting the fact that they have a bargain. This has caused the demand for other heretofore popular brands to be greatly diminished. Hence the present great tobacco war.

A REMARKABLE CURE.

A CASE OF PILES OF EIGHTEEN YEARS STANDING.

Cured by the Pyramid Pile Cure.

There are plenty of pile cures which give relief and sometimes cure a mild case of piles, but there is only one which can be depended upon with certainty to cure obstinate long standing cases, and that is the Pyramid Pile Cure.

Endorsements and testimonials are received daily from men and women whose integrity and reliability are above question and in this connection a letter received from the Rev. Jas. H. Wesbrook, of Bowne, Mich., may be of interest to piles sufferers who have sought in vain for a cure. He says:

I have used the Pyramid Pile Cure and I know that it is all that is claimed for it. I had been troubled with piles more or less for about eighteen years and I had tried other remedies, but the piles grew worse until about ten months ago I used the Pyramid Pile Cure. It gave almost instant relief and I have been free from piles ever since. Rev. Jas. H. Wesbrook.

The remedy seems to act equally well in every form of piles, blind, bleeding, protruding or itching. It stops all pain almost immediately, allays irritation and removes constipation, and anyone who has suffered the annoyance and pain of a rectal trouble will appreciate the excellent results which invariably follow the first application of the Pyramid.

The Pyramid Pile Cure is prepared by the Pyramid Drug Co. of Albion, Mich., and for sale by druggists everywhere.

Two sizes, 50 Cents and $1. Sold by all druggists.

MYSTERY OF THE ROSE

LAWRENCE HUNTER carried a big bunch of pink roses with him when he called on Alma Bentley with an important mission in his mind, and he felt that he was particularly fortunate in having them, as they were country-bred roses, grown properly in the open air, and the last of the season.

He had heard the young woman bemoan the fact that she never saw any roses except those raised in hot-houses, that she did not consider art superior to nature, and should never forget the dear roses that grew in the country, in the garden of their old home—they were filled with tender associations.

Therefore Lawrence Hunter was full of a happy importance, as he presented her with the roses he had plucked himself from the bushes in a friend's garden that same day.

"You will find them delightfully fragrant," he said, as she took the great bunch of bloom in her fine, slim hands, and looked at them with such loving appreciation that the young man's pulse went up to fever heat.

She was dressed as became a rose-queen, in snowy white, and her golden hair was bound with a filet of blue, which color enhanced the fairness of her complexion, as she probably meant it should, in the artlessness of art. And as she held her lovely face with its delicate rose-color above the roses, the young man, strengthened his resolve to propose that——

But there is an old adage about man proposing. The queenly Alma knew that she could not continue to hold the roses without weariness, even flowers become burdensome, under certain conditions, and she placed them tenderly in a china vase, and when they were arranged to suit her fastidious taste, lingered to drink in their subtle beauty.

"They bring up the sweetest associations of a happy past," she said, romantically. "Petals of pink, and hearts of gold, how I love you! I revel in your adorable sweetness!"

And she buried her face in the mass of roses, the better to inhale their odor, and then Lawrence, who felt the insanity of jealousy stealing over him, noticed that her slender form was shaken with sobs, and he sprung to her assistance. But she gave a wild shriek and escaped from the room, leaving the astonished lover gazing into space.

He heard cries and exclamations, the hurry of flying feet, doors slamming, and—silence. He waited, but no one came, and he went home with a profound conviction that he had just escaped making a fool of himself—that Alma Bentley was a woman with a past, that he would call on her—or cultivate her society, no longer. And he lay awake all night, thanking his stars that he was not her accepted husband.

The next day he watched anxiously for some word, a note, any explanation, but none came. He wandered that way in the evening, and finding the house dark and closed, was so piqued and curious that he rung the bell and inquired if the young woman was at home.

"Yes," the domestic said, "but not able to see any one—quite ill, under the doctor's care."

"The plot thickens," said the young man to himself, as he turned away, more in love than ever, and determined to probe the mystery to its depths. Suppose she had a past—so had he, and he laughed grimly as he thought of some pages of his life that he would have been glad to tear out and burn. Poor little girl! Some foolish romance of her early teens that had roses in it—and a lover! What then? How many love affairs of his own had left memories and associations—only he was a man and could forget. Well, he would teach her to forget if she would give him her confidence and love!

He waited meekly but expectantly a week—two weeks, and when a third had nearly passed, met Alma face to face. Both were riding, but she threw him a sweet smile and a bow as they passed, and he thought he had never seen her looking so well, not excepting that fatal evening of the roses.

After a decorous time he called, and was as nervous as a woman as he waited to hear the rustle of her silken skirts, and learn from her lips the mystery of the incident of the roses.

There was no hint of illness or pallor, but just a slight shade of anxiety on her face as she cordially welcomed the young man.

"You must have thought me out of my senses," she said, as soon as they were seated, "when I rushed out of the room that night. But I could not help it, I lost all my self-control and cried like a child. Mamma said I was very silly."

"Were you so much overcome?" asked Lawrence kindly.

"Overcome? I was blind, frantic with pain."

"I have heard," said the young man, "of people to whom the odor of certain flowers was painful on account of memories. If I had only known that my unfortunate roses had the power to rouse slumbering recollections of happier days, rather than revive such memories, I would have left them wither on their stems!"

"Memories," repeated Alma vaguely, "what had they to do with me? I don't understand you, Mr. Hunter."

"Was it not an overpowering rush of associations connected with the roses that brought on your attack of illness?

Alma [illegible]d a moment, then laughed merrily.

"No, in fact it was the overpowering rush [illegible]e concealed in one of the roses, [illegible]stung my poor lip so that I was a sight for weeks and suffered from th[illegible] poison, too."

"And it wasn't a memory?" Lawrence's tone was jubilant.

"No, but it is now, and a very disagreeable one. I am pledged hereafter to artificial roses."

"Let me have the life-long position of poison-taster to my queen," suggested Lawrence gallantly, and his queen, being in the mood, accepted him for the position.

THE SUN'S HEAT.

Would Melt a 200,000 Mile Icicle in a Single Second.

We believe that we are speaking the truth when we say that there is no more than one person in ten who has anything like a correct idea of what an icicle forty-five miles in diameter and 200,000 in length would look like. It is also true that there is no necessity for one being provided with a mind that would enable him to form a correct conception of such a gigantic cylinder of ice, for there is no probability that any one will ever live to see an icicle even half so large, yet it is interesting to know that Sir John Herschel, the great astronomer, used an illustration in one of his articles on the intensity of the sun's heat. After giving the diameter of the great blazing orb, and a calculation on the amount of heat radiated by each square foot of its immense surface, he closed by saying that if it were possible for an icicle forty-five miles in diameter and 200,000 miles long to plunge into the sun's great burning sea of gas, it would be melted away and utterly consumed, even to its vapor, in less than one second of time! Such an icicle would contain more cubic yards of ice than has formed on the rivers and lakes of the United States during the past 100 years: its base would cover the average Missouri county, and its length would be almost sufficient to reach the moon.

A Member of the Force.

"A good many amusing incidents came out in our first examination of the police," says Col. John W. Ela, the apostle of local civil service reform. "I recall one incident which struck me as being particularly funny. We were putting one of the patrolmen through, and the big fellow fumed and fretted and perspired as if he were actually in the sweat box. At last I asked him this question: 'What is a felony?'

"The poor fellow looked stunned for a moment or two, but finally there came an expression of returning reason into his eyes, and in a triumphant tone he answered: 'A t'ing on the t'umb!'"—Chicago Record.

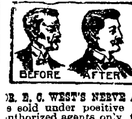

ECZEMA From early childhood until I was grown my family spent a fortune trying to cure me of this disease. I visited Hot Springs and was treated by the best medical men, but was not benefited. When all things had failed I determined to try S.S.S. and in four months was entirely cured. The terrible eczema was gone, not a sign of it left. My general health built up, and I have never had any return of the disease. I have often recommended S.S.S. and have never yet known a failure to cure.

Cured of Gallstones.

May 27th, 1895.

The Dr. J. H. McLean Medicine Co.,
ST. LOUIS, MO.

GENTLEMEN: For upwards of ten years I suffered from what the doctors called neuralgia of the stomach, but they could do nothing for me. At one time I was taken with a most excruciating pain and in my agony I prayed for death to relieve me. My husband sent to Lincoln for another doctor, who came, and after examination, pronounced my trouble to be gallstones. The only relief I received was when the doctors injected morphine, and that was only temporary. I was reading in your almanac where

DR. J. H. McLEAN'S LIVER and KIDNEY BALM

Cured a case of gallstones. My husband thought I had better try it, so he bought a bottle. That bottle gave me so much relief I was encouraged to keep on with it. I used seven bottles, and am now, thanks to its great healing power, cured sound and well. I am unable to express my gratitude to you for the benefit I have received from your wonderful medicine. I have recommended it to many people since my recovery, and shall always do so when I have the opportunity. You may make use of this letter in any way you desire.

Yours respectfully,
MRS. LIZZIE SAXTON,

A Boy Gets Entangled in Balloon Ropes and Makes an Ascension Against His Will

LINCOLN, Ill., Sept. 3.—A balloon ascension and parachute jump by Professor Fry, in connection with the Labor day attractions, furnished an exciting event not intended. James Irving, a boy of seventeen, was in the way during the inflation of the balloon, and was caught in the ropes when the balloon was released, and to the horror of the aeronaut, was above him and could not be reached. The voice of the aeronaut could be heard commanding him to lie still and hold on. The balloon ascended 2500 feet, when the parachute was cut loose, and the aeronaut and lad landed safely in a corn field, both thoroughly frightened.

RAILWAYS AND SHOPS.

Cashier L. L. Clizbe, of the Pittsburg, Resigns.

A Wabash Bridge Carpenter Injured—A Kansas Man Loses a Foot at Donelson—Local Gossip.

Lemuel L. Clizbe has tendered his resignation as local cashier of the Pennsylvania company, the same to take effect next Saturday. He has accepted a position as traveling salesman for Tunison & Co, of New York, a wholesale fruit importing house, and will travel over the Atlantic states. Mr. Clizbe has already commenced packing up his effects and will remove to New York next week. His successor has not been named. Several applications are under consideration, but the lucky one will not be known until Superintendent C. D. Law returns from Pittsburg, where he went this morning.

TRAMP INJURED.

Thomas Frances, of St. John, Kan., who was stealing a ride on Pittsburg freight train No. 76, Anthony J. Zurbach, conductor, fell off the cars at 3 o'clock this morning when the train was one and one half mile east of Donelson. One of his feet went under the wheels, injuring the member so badly that amputation at the ankle was necessary. Dr. Wilson, of Plymouth, the company's surgeon, performed the operation. Frances is now being cared for by the township trustee at Plymouth.

A MIRACULOUS ESCAPE.

C. D. Pierce, of Peru, Ind., a bridge carpenter in the employ of the Wabash, came up here yesterday to do some work for the company. While he was en route from the depot to the shops to report for duty, switch engine No. 267, Frank Carman engineer, struck Pierce, knocked him down and the truck wheels passed over his left foot. He was taken to the shop clerk's office, where Dr. M. F. Porter made an examination of his injuries and found them to consist of a cut on the heel and bruised and skinned face and hands. The shoe was literally torn to pieces and how the foot escaped more serious injury is indeed a miracle. Pierce was sent to Peru this morning, where he will spend a few days in the company's hospital.

Wants Them Both Whipped.

What a strange thing the feminine mind is and how oddly it jumps to conclusions that could never be reached by any process of reasoning! Heard a lady say the other day: "Jim Corbett will be whipped sure. He isn't any greater pugilist than Napoleon was a soldier, and he met his Waterloo because he divorced Josephine. Dallas will be his Waterloo sure."

"But," I urged, "Fitzsimmons was divorced by his wife and married a younger and handsomer woman."

"Then I hope he'll be whipped, too," was the lady's reply.—Macon in New York Journal.

A New Woman Episode.

"I need recreation," said the new woman, as she ordered her bicycle to the front door, "and so I think I'll look in on the legislature and kill a few bills."

"Do you never think of your poor husband?" piped a weak voice from a dim corner.

"Often," said the new woman. "I thought of him today, when I purchased that new china set; and yesterday, when he gave the baby green apples; and Wednesday, when he put sugar in the biscuits. Oh, I'm always thinking of him—poor soul!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Gray Gables Oysters.

A Buzzards Bay fisherman wants to put the label "Gray Gables Oysters" on his next crop of bivalves now growing off these shores, but he is in doubt about his privilege in the matter. He wonders if the president has copyrighted the title of his summer home for exclusive use, and if he would object, all other reasons aside, just "because." The scheme opens up limitless possibilities for the bay fishermen, who see wealth in that label for a trademark.—Baltimore American.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist church at Rives Junction, she was brought down with pneumonia, succeeding la grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little intermission and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at Dreier & Bro.'s Drug Store. Regular size, 50c and $1.00.

ONE NIGHT IN A CHINESE CITY.

San Franciscan Describes Graphically a Sojourn in Canton.

"Why, I wouldn't take a million dollars for the fun I had on that trip," said Sands Foreman to a San Francisco Call reporter, "and it is worth repeating. You ought to go through China and stop over night in Canton. That was one of the experiences that nearly drove me crazy. Of course, a fellow has such things happen even in the midst of the most delightful times. All night long the local police, togged out like an Italian panorama, moved up and down the streets blowing horns and beating discordant cymbals for the purpose of driving away any thieves who might be operating in the city. About 3 o'clock they let up, and a fellow rolls over to get in a little sleep. In the midst of your dozing, or about sunrise, three fiends perch themselves on a wall across the street from the hotel, and with a sort of ram's horn about four feet long proceed to blow glad blasts to the rising sun. They seem to be trying to burst the horns, and keep it up two or three hours. This puts a stop to any further attempt to rest, so you have to get up and make the best of it. I took a trip in a sort of sedan chair throughout the city. Everybody moves about in that way. No one thinks of walking. The Chinamen who carried me, four of them, were dressed very slightly. I don't suppose there was enough clothes on the four to flag a hand-car. I had a little more on, happily, but about noon the perspiration was pouring off me in streams. Hot? You never saw anything like it. Why, I had to hang all my clothes out to dry when I got back to the hotel. Canton was too many for me, so I got over to Tokio."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.

This also applies to bicycle licenses.

The Pericleans, a new secret benevolent society, will institute a temple Thursday evening at K. of P. hall, on East Berry street, opposite the post-office. It will be Temple No. 1. This temple now has about 150 charter members and it is thought it will probably have in the neighborhood of 200 members by Thursday night. The Pericleans is a new order that has had its birth in Fort Wayne.

This afternoon, at 2.30 o'clock, at the home of the bride's mother Mrs E M. Springer, of South Calhoun street, occurred the marriage of her daughter, Miss Eva, to Robert L. Hourer, of Hagerstown, Ind., the Rev. Northrop officiating. The wedding was a very quiet affair and will be a surprise to their many friends. The happy couple left at 4 o'clock for a sojurn of a couple weeks in the southern part of the state, after which they will return to this city to make their future home.

The engagement of Miss May Baker, clerk at Gellers, and George Capeadle, a well known druggist, has been announced.

The Christian Endeavor society of Third church will give a social at the suburban home of I. L. Barkley next Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Stahler, who for the past year made their home with Benjamin Ogden, the dairyman, four miles south of this city, are en route to Kansas, where they have purchased a farm a short distance from Kansas City.

Cyrus Zimmer, of the Zimmer Carpet Cleaning company, has returned from a trip on his wheel to Columbus Grove, Ohio, where he attended the bicycle races, and the Knights of Pythias reunion. Columbus Grove is seventy miles from here, and he made the trip in five hours and fifteen minutes.

A most curious freak of nature has come to light as a result of an operation performed on Mrs. W. B. Kitselman, 223 West Jefferson street, for aggravated tumor at Hope hospital yesterday afternoon by Drs. Porter and Schrader. Mrs. Kitselman is the wife of the well known Nickel Plate conductor, and has been suffering from the affliction for a long time. When the tumor, which had formed in the abdominal regions, was removed, the physicians, on opening it, found a set of five almost perfectly formed teeth, besides a complement of hair sufficient to serve as the covering of an ordinary human head. The physicians say such discoveries are frequently made in similar operations, though the development of the teeth and the quantity of hair found is altogether out of the ordinary. The interesting subject was taken in charge by Dr. Drayer, the city bacteriologist. Mrs. Kitselman, so her husband tells THE SENTINEL, is rapidly recovering from her illness and doing nicely.

REFORMED ORPHANS' HOME.

Supt. Rettig Speaks of Their Twelfth Anniversary Tomorrow.

Tomorrow will occur the twelfth anniversary of the Reformed Orphans' home, located east of our city. These anniversaries are public festivals which have increased in interest and attendance from year to year. The superintendent and also the ladies of the Reformed churches of the city will try their utmost to make the day a pleasant one for all visitors. The ladies of the St. John's German Reformed and those of the Grace church will attend to the tables, while those of the Salem church will have the ice cream, lemonade, etc, stands in their care. The stands will be in the pleasant grove belonging to the home. Rev. J. Bachmann, D. D., chairman of the board of the home, will open the exercises with prayer and a short address, after which the Revs. F. O. Zosh, of Cincinnati, O., and A. K. Zartman, of Fort Wayne, will deliver addresses in the German and English languages respectively. For a change in the program a few songs will be sung by the children of the home and the fact that during this time the collection baskets will be handed around for the benefit of the home should not be kept secret and I hope that the visitors will bring with them warm hearts and open hands willing to give and thus be mindful of the Lord's words when He says: "Remember the orphans." The "Goeglein Band" has been engaged, and it will render good music. For those who cannot be with us during the day, due care has been taken and an entertainment will be held till 9 o'clock, in which they can share. An agreement has been made with the Street Car company to bring guests from any part of the city to the eastern entrance of the "race track" for five cents, where there will be a sufficient number of busses to convey them promptly to the home for another five cents.

Come! Come! All our friends and help to keep up this institution and help to encourage those who labor in this beautiful, but also difficult cause.

Yours Respectfully,
JNO. H. RETTIG, Supt.

In the evening a large crowd assembled in the park to indulge in dancing and witness the stereopticon exhibition of Rev. J. L. Leeper, pastor of Westminster church, for Labor day. A canvas covering 400 square feet was suspended between two upright posts thirty feet high and from a distance of eighty feet, despite a clear moonlight, beautifully distinct and clear cut pictures were produced. The First Regiment band discoursed the sweetest music, and the program was for the music and pictures to alternate in periods of about fifteen to twenty minutes. In the periods of time allotted to him Rev. Leeper conducted the audience on short excursions to almost every part of the globe—Greenland, Lapland, Norway, the Rhine, Italy, Turkey, the Hawaiian and Cannibal islands of the Pacific ocean, besides giving one beautiful series of children's pictures, and many fine dissolving effects and views about the city of Fort Wayne. Many of the views shown were of Mr. Leeper's own production, he having mastered the photographic art in order to make views for his own use. Mr. Harry Terman manipulated the apparatus. Upon the whole, the entertainment was instructive and delightful and a good departure for Labor day.

S. E. Hutchison, of Jackson, Mich., was a guest of Miss Anna Miller at her home, on North Cass street, Sunday.

THEODORE DURRANT.

The Accused Murderer of Miss Lamont on Trial.

District Attorney Barnes Opens the Case With an Address Outlining the Course of the Prosecution.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3—The actual trial of Theodore Durrant for the murder of Blanche Lamont commenced today. District Attorney Barnes delivered the opening address, which is as follows:

At this point in the trial and before proceeding with the evidence it becomes my duty as a representative of the people to make what is called the opening statement of the case. The opening statement should not be regarded by you in the light of testimony, neither should it be regarded as an argument upon the facts It should not have any weight with you, nor should you consider it as a mitigation against the prisoner It is merely a statement of what the people expect to prove—a statement of the evidence which they intend to set for your consideration, and upon which they will confidently rely for a verdict at your hands which shall sweep away the sophistries and the technicalities that have enveloped criminal proceedings in this state as with a garment, and shall declare that the land we live in is blessed not only with the manifold gifts of nature and of God to man, but is further blessed with the hard, clear common sense that can rise above the tortorous environments that surrounds the criminal and punish the crime committed in the manner required and demanded by all laws, both human and divine

We will show you that in the month of September, 1894 Blanche Lamont, a young girl about twenty years of age, came to San Francisco from her home at Dillon, Mont., in the hope that the mild climate of California might benefit her health. She went to reside with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs C. G. Noble, and from the time of her arrival here until April 3, she was engaged in attending school. She was not a society girl in any sense of the word. She was of a quiet disposition, home keeping and religious. She never attended parties nor theatres or other places of amusement, except in company with her relatives.

We will show that Blanche Lamont in her life time was well, too well, and yet not well enough acquainted with the prisoner, Durrant, that he was in the habit of accompanying her home from church and prayer meetings; that he was a caller upon her at her aunt's house; that upon the only occasion upon which she ever went anywhere with any young man, as far as we are informed, she visited the park one afternoon in company with Durrant. We will give you a history of her life and her movements, as far as we are able, up to the 3d of April, 1895, in order that you may form a just appreciation of the character and the habits of this unfortunate young girl. We will show you her connection with the defendant and we will show you the reason why, when the murdered body of Blanche Lamont was found in the darkened belfry of Emmanuel church, and the question sprang from the lips of every resident of this city and of this county: 'Who is the murderer?'

Why is it that the state answers that he who was responsible for the slaughter of this young life is William Henry Theodore Durrant—Durrant, once the friend of Blanche Lamont; Durrant, once in charge of the Sunday school libraries, Durrant, once assistant superintendent of the Emanuel Sunday school, Durrant, once the electrician who knew the ins and outs of the great building; Durrant, once the handy man and jack of all trades at the church, and now Durrant, the prisoner, and on trial for his life? We shall show Durrant's connection with the case; shall demonstrate by irrefutable and unanswerable evidence, that he, and he alone, committed the murder. If we show you these facts—show you that Durrant met this ill-fated girl on the day of her death; that he accompanied her to the church; that he was seen to enter the church with her, that he was seen afterwards in the church alone, that Blanche Lamont was never seen again by human eyes from the moment when she entered the portals of Emanuel Baptist church with the defendant, that in the church was found her dead body, her clothes, her school books—showing that she had never been home—and that she had gone straight from her school to her death; if we show you, as we confidently expect to, that no one but the prisoner could have committed this outrageous and horrible crime, we shall look to you as a citizens of the great state whose reputation for justice and for enforcement of the laws, we, as its officers, are to uphold, to render your verdict that the prisoner at the bar is guilty of murder in the first degree.

CHOLERA IN HONOLULU

Creates a Scare Among the Pacific Coast People.

PORTLAND, Ore, Sept. 3—The prevalence of cholera in Honolulu and the Orient has created a scare here. The local board of health is already adopting stringent measures to repel its invasion. City Physician Wheeler says that at no time have Pacific coast cities been so seriously menaced by the scourge as now. Winter is no protection against the disease, as the germs flourish in all temperatures. He says the situation is alarming; people must not be deceived, and health ordinances must be vigorously enforced All vessels coming here from foreign ports will be carefully examined and quarantined if necessary

BRICE'S TRUNK LINE.

New York and Chicago to be Closely Connected.

The First Important Step Was the Purchasing Today of the C. A. & C. Stock.

CLEVELAND Ohio, Sept 3—The Cleveland, Akron and Columbus railroad is no more. Calvin S Brice has at last gained control of the line and will hereafter guide its fortunes. Yesterday the board of directors, consisting of Frank Rockefeller, William Chisholm, J. H Hoyt, L M Cole and G. W. Saul, met and after a long and exciting session the finishing touch was put on a railroad deal that puts Mr. Brice in control of the road. Senator Brice was not present, but was represented by Col A. L. Conger and C N. Haskell. The main business transacted was the sale of over 10,000 shares of stock owned and controlled by President G W. Saul for nearly $500 000 After the transfer Calvin S Brice was unanimously elected president of the new organization. The new board of directors and officials have not yet been named. The Cleveland, Akron and Columbus will undoubtedly be used as a link in Mr. Brice's trunk line from Chicago to New York.

INDIANS BLAMELESS.

Had Nothing to Do With Instigating Trouble.

They Are Under Perfect Control and Afraid to Say Boo to a Goose, Says General Coppinger.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3—General Coppinger, who had command of the recent military expedition to the Jackson's Hole country, is in the city and today had a conference with Secretary Lamont, to which Commissioner of Indian Affairs Browning was invited 'I do not consider the Indians were to blame for the Jackson Hole affair," said General Coppinger at the close of the conference. "They are entirely quiet now, and have been, in fact They would not say boo to a goose" One question which the general brought to the attention of Secretary Lamont and Commissioner Browning was the advisability of annexing the Jackson Hole country to the Yellowstone National park. He suggested that this action would solve the problem by preventing all parties hunting and fishing in that section, and said that as the country was not densely settled he thought there would be comparatively little difficulty in making the change. Commissioner Browning, replying to the suggestion said that in the first place it would be a matter for Secretary Smith and then for congress, adding that he did not know how the people of Wyoming would regard it, as it would deprive that state of the territory with which it may not desire to part General Coppinger had his report on the Indian trouble with him, and it was gone over quite thoroughly. The report has been turned over to Secretary Lamont and he is not yet prepared to give it out The general, in reply to a question, said that the report was brief. He declined to say whether he had made any recommendations for the continuance of troops in the Jacckson Hole country or for the punishment of those who had precipated the trouble.

PROHIBITIONISTS.

The New York State Convention is Opened at Saratoga.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Sept. 3.—The prohibition state convention opened this morning with prayer by Rev. Stanley B. Roberts, of Utica, and C. R. Hawley, of Saratoga. State Chairman Downing, of Poughkeepsie, read the call for the convention: An address of welcome was made by Village President Charles H. Stugess. Rev. Dr. I. M. Fulk, of King's county, was chosen temporary chairman. The appointing of committees on credentials, rules, order, permanent organization, resolutions and platform consumed the balance of the morning session.

DEEPWATER CONVENTION.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo, Sept 3—Governor Stone today appointed about sixty delegates to represent the state of Missouri at the deepwater convention to be held in Topeka, Kas., on October 1, 1895—This number includes all the republicans of Missouri in congress.

Bank Closed.

STORM LAKE, Iowa, Sept. 3.—Great excitement prevails over the closing of the Buena Vista state bank. Depositors are largely people with earnings of years entrusted to the bank. Its doors were closed yesterday morning and a big crowd fills the streets. It would only need a word to lead to deeds of violence, the business methods of the Lemon family, who are in the institution, having caused great indignation.

Judge Fluedy Dead.

PRESCOTT, Ari., Sept. 3—Judge Henry F. Fluedy, who came to Arizona with the first set of territorial officers in 1863, died here last night of nervous disease. Judge Fluedy served as secretary of territory and also as acting governor during the early history of Arizona.

Prof. Wm. Miles has returned from a summer outing at Eagle Lake.

BELONGS TO THE STATE

Does the Accretion Lands Adjacent to Chicago.

Uncle Sam Has No Claim Upon Them and the Secretary of the Interior Has So Announced.

WASHINGTON, Sept 3—The acting secretary of the interior has rendered three important decisions regarding the ownership of immensely valuable accretion lands lying north of the Chicago river in the city of Chicago. The gist of the decisions is that the land does not belong to the United States government, but probably does belong to the state of Illinois The first case is that of George W Streeter and P. T. Johnson, who applied to make homestead entry of about 150 acres of land lying on both sides of the Chicago river at its mouth in Lake Michigan. It is a portion of land filled in by dumping on the meander line established by the government survey in 1821, and the present water line. Johnson claims to have lived there in a house built on piles for sixteen years and Streeter claims to have been wrecked there in 1886 and to have lived there for two years. Technically, this land is part of sections 3 and 10 of township 39, and these sections, the secretary says, were selected by the state of Illinois in 1827 for canal purposes under authority of an act of congress. The secretary says that the state of Illinois owns the lands under the navigable waters of Lake Michigan within its limits and that the filling in by any person or corporation, not the owners of shore lands, gives them no riparian rights. In any case he says the United States government has no title, and therefore could convey none to any claimants. The second case is that of Jacob Nine and others against N. K. Fairbanks and others. The former tried to locate military bounty land warrants on 120 acres of accretion land north of the Chicago river, between the original survey meander line and the present water line. The secretary decides that the United States has no title to the land. The third case is that of Peter T. Johnson, who joined with Streeter in the first mentioned application to locate Valentine scrip on fifty-five acres of accretion land south of the Chicago river. It is rejected like the others for want of title by the United States government

BALLOON BATTERY.

From the Clouds It Rains Down Leaden Hail.

An Invention Which Will Lead to Speedy Extermination of Warring Factions.

HARTFORD, Conn, Sept. 3—Samuel Andrews, a machinist in this city, claims to have perfected a war balloon which he has sold to a syndicate of New York Cubans for use in the aid of the Cuban insurgents.

The balloon has been thoroughly tested in the fields of New Jersey, and is said to work perfectly. Instead of an ordinary car, it is fitted with an armored box, from which a number of bombs can be suspended.

The bombs are ignited and released by automatic machinery in the box, and after all are discharged the box explodes, destroying the balloon and the secret mechanism.

The machinery is worked by a steel spring. Andrews claims to have a device by which he can control the direction of the balloon.

Labor had magnificent weather for the celebration of their anniversary day.

Mr S. E. Morss, consul general to Paris, is home on a visit and looking after his interests as editor and proprietor of the Indianapolis Sentinel.

The Labor day addresses delivered by Judge S. M Hench, C. H. Bliss and Mayor Oakley, at Centlivre's park yesterday, were fine oratorical efforts and warmly praised by the large number of people who heard them

Thousands of people will turn their eyes, if not their thoughts, heavenward tonight to look at the eclipse of the moon By standard time the eclipse will be total a few minutes after 10 o'clock and will remain so until 12 48 o'clock

It is understood that the report on the Nicaragua canal now in the hands of Secretary Lamont, is favorable to the canal, but bears somewhat heavily on the methods of the canal company, particularly as to estimates of the amount needed to complete the canal. The commission says it will take $115,000,000 to complete the canal, which is $45 000,000 more than the company's estimate.

Every person should have a good word for the centennial. Let us try to get some of the big excursions headed this way, instead of sending the crowds out of the city. We have one of the best cities in the world and we should take delight in showing it up to our neighbors and friends. The coming centennial celebration should bring to Fort Wayne one of the largest crowds ever seen here and it looks now as if such would be the case.

Politicians of both parties are dubious as to the prospects of raising the necessary funds for the campaign of next year. The manufacturers from whom the major part of subscriptions come are no longer excitable about the tariff Since the enactment of the present law they have cultivated the belief that neither party is an enemy to American industries and that public sentiment will not tolerate much tinkering with the present tariff.

Mr Perry A. Randall has a strong letter in The Sentinel today on the question of purchasing the gravel roads and making them free. This is one of the most important questions that Allen county has to settle. Years ago our gravel roads should have been made free and it is a shame and disgrace that people have to pay toll in a free country like this It costs almost as much to drive over the toll roads as it does to ride on the railroads Hundreds of farmers are kept away from Fort Wayne every week by this outrageous charging of toll

The county commissioners are to be commended for their action in refusing to give a saloon license to an applicant for a renewal against whom it was proven that he had been conducting his saloon in an improper manner, by selling liquor to minors and on Sundays, and that he had been arrested for having violated the Nicholson law The business of the saloonkeeper is such that it, at all times, ought to be kept within the strict requirements of the law and the saloonkeeper who does not thus conduct it ought not to be allowed to have a liquor license

Millionaire M F. Payne, who died a few days ago at his home in Malvern, Iowa, was a life-long friend of Jefferson Davis, and when the latter was elected president of the Southern Confederacy he appointed Payne secretary of the interior, but he never served in that capacity. On the contrary, he came north and settled in Fremont county, Iowa, where he amassed a fortune estimated at from $1,000 000 to $2,000 000 He owned land in every state in the union except one, though the most of his estate was in Fremont county, where he had 16 000 acres When Jefferson Davis died he owed Mr Payne $100,000 Payne was called to Davis' home in Mississippi to preach his funeral sermon. Mr Payne left most of his fortune to charitable institutions.

Legal Character of Labor Day.

Labor day in Indiana is not a full legal holiday, though generally observed in cities by abstention from the usual occupations, and by the closing of banks, boards of trade and other places of business The holidays in Indiana as to commercial paper are the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday, the 1st day of January, the 4th day of July, the 25th day of December, any day appointed or recommended by the president of the United States or the governor of the state of Indiana as a public fast or thanksgiving, the 22d day of February, commonly called Washington's birthday; the 30th of May, called Memorial day, and the first Monday in September, called Labor day. These and the day of any general national or state election shall be legal holidays within the state of Indiana, and all bills of exchange bank checks, promissory notes or other negotiable or commercial paper falling due or maturing on either of said holidays shall be deemed as having matured on the day previous. When the legal holiday comes on Sunday the day following shall be the holiday. The law does not forbid the sale of liquors on Labor day. The observance of the day so far as the cessation from work is concerned, is left wholly to the individual to decide for himself. This, however, is true of all the other holidays in the year, Sundays alone excepted. Labor day is also a legal national holiday. The postmaster says that in accordance with the rules the office is closed just as on the Fourth of July. All of the federal offices are closed.

The state arbitration law recently passed in Illinois is one of the best devised hitherto. Under its provisions the board of arbitration will consist of three members. Of these one must be an employer of labor and another must be a workingman and a member of a labor organization. Any strike or lockout in an establishment employing more than 25 workmen may legally be taken in hand by the board. It will investigate both sides and recommend to the two opposing parties such settlement as seems to it wise. Of course the law cannot compel either side to accept the settlement, but a recommendation of the state board will undoubtedly have due weight. One provision of the law is that no two members of the board shall be of the same political party. A state in which this law is in force will need to keep on hand a varied assortment of political parties

If the new submarine boat built in France for the Brazilian government does what is claimed for it, then even sunken torpedoes will no longer be a reliable defense for a harbor The new boat is small in size, but can remain under water 15 hours. It is not necessary to depend on the outer air for ventilation, for reservoir tubes of oxygen inside the vessel itself will supply this As the air gets foul it will be pumped out of the vessel down into the sea An electric motor will propel the craft. The little vessel is cigar shaped. It is expected that it will be able to hunt about under water for concealed torpedoes, and also to cut the wires which are expected to explode torpedoes under ships. Three men comprise the crew.

Minnesota has made provision for giving much pleasure and profit to that put upon class of community, farmers' wives At the state university this season there has been in session a summer school of dairying and domestic economy It was an experiment to find out whether farmers' wives and daughters desired to be scientifically instructed in their special lines of work. The result was most encouraging There were many students, in age ranging from 16 upward The making of various kinds of delicious cheeses at home was taught. So was the manufacture of butter according to the most scientific methods. Cooking and chemical lectures completed the instruction in this invaluable course.

There are hundreds of millions of dollars in Europe awaiting investment Just so soon as the United States can convince the owners of this money that her railroads are getting out of the hands of receivers, that her vast industries are on a sound financial basis, her business men strictly honest, capable, and men of their word, then the gold of Europe will begin to flow to this country so fast that we shall not know what to do with it.

DOWN WITH THE GATE.

Strong Letter From P. A. Randall on Toll Roads.

Allen County Should Have Free Gravel Roads and Now is the Opportune Time for Action.

To the Editor of The Sentinel

It is stated that seven out of thirteen toll roads in the state of Indiana are in Allen county Allen county leads in nearly everything, but it can hardly be to her credit that she outstrips all the rest of the state in this relic of by-gone ages toll roads With thirteen out of the twenty main wagon roads entering the city of Fort Wayne, now free gravel roads, it seems to say nothing more, that these seven should also be free We shall celebrate this fall the centennial of our city, why would it not be a good time to celebrate also the freeing of our city from this incubus of the past?

The county commissioners have been laboring with the problem all summer, but have not been able to see their way clear to come to the terms of the gravel road owners The county commissioners are conservative men, watching the interests of the public and will not pay more for these roads than they believe they are worth I think all fair minded men commend them in this. If they were reckless enthusiasts in this matter and ready to give away the people's money to an extent not justified by their judgment, we should expect the same of them in other things. To some of us who are interested only in the good of the city of Fort Wayne and the county the conservative policy of the commissioners has been a cause of severe comment. To us the giving of a few thousand dollars, more or less, for accomplishing an object so beneficial, has seemed a little matter Some of us, too, have been inclined to criticise the gravel road owners for refusing to come to the terms proposed by the commissioners, and have charged them with niggardliness and lack of public spirit and have perhaps said things that were even more uncomplimentary than these. Still, when we calmly consider the matter, we ought not to condemn the road owners for wanting pay for their property. At one time we thought them benefactors to the public When the country roads were almost impassible and the public would do nothing to make them better, we were only to thankful that there were men in the community who were willing to invest their money to make good roads. The great cost of building these roads has left very small profits to their owners. We ought not to forget past favors so soon A fair consideration ought to be had for these property interests. At least the owners of the roads are justified in getting what they can out of their properties.

On the other hand, it must be taken into account that these roads can be built much cheaper today than formerly; that they have been paralleled by free gravel roads until they make but a small return on the capital invested and the most of them are in a bad state of repair, and it would cost the county a great deal to put them in good order. They never will serve as a good investment for their owners again. These men are like many other classes of business men—they have had the life of their business taken away by the advancement of the age, like the owners of the old stage coach line that had their property ruined by the steam cars, or the owners of the old horse cars that had them thrown to the rubbish pile by the incoming electric car, or as the owners of the old time printing presses had to make scrap of their once valuable machinery to make room for the improved kind of printing presses.

The age advances so fast that what was new yesterday is old today, and no one dares make investments without taking this into account, nor hold on to investments already made without carefully considering the consequences.

But after all is said and done, the fact remains that we have the toll roads with us, and are likely to have them with us for a long time yet as a menace to our county's interests, unless something extraordinary is done to get rid of them It is folly to talk of destroying them by parallel lines. This could, of course, be done, but there is no wisdom in doing it, for the cost of parallel lines would be double that of buying the roads already built, besides these roads are better located than the parallel lines could possibly be, and the people have built with reference to them, and it would damage incalculably many of the best homes of the country to change the main lines of travel.

What then shall be done? I would suggest that a mass meeting be held at the circuit court room to take action in the matter, and that people along the lines of these roads as well as the citizens of Fort Wayne and the county in general be asked to attend this meeting. This mass meeting could appoint committees to confer with the commissioners and the owners of the roads and ascertain the differences between them. Committees could also be appointed if thought necessary, to raise funds to pay these differences. The time is ripe for this. For the next seven weeks the attention of our citizens will be directed to our city and its needs. Its past will be recalled, its achievements for the past 100 years recounted, its present proud position declaimed and its grand future prophesied. During this time, we will learn to be patriots and all will be filled with the zeal of public spirit. Not only will the citizens of Fort Wayne feel this public spirit but it will extend to the whole county. The city of Fort Wayne belongs to the whole county and every man and woman in it is interested in its success. This is the proper time to take hold of the question of freeing the gravel roads. It will give us another reason to celebrate Let us have the mass meeting and set the ball a rolling We can celebrate a county free from toll roads this fall if we will.

Roy Peibles Enters a Bicycle Race Under an Assumed Name.

Pana, Ill, Sept 3—It is reported that "D. B. Saunders," who won the mile and repeat bicycle race and cash prize at the fair here Friday, is a ringer his real name being Roy Peibles, a crack rider in class A of the League of American Wheelmen, who a week ago won a race at St Louis defeating the best rider of the country. His race here, if it really was Peibles, forever debars him from racing at League meets.

The Tobacco War.

The present war exisiting between the big plug tobacco manufacturers is proving very interesting for the consumers, they being the only ones who are profiting by this war. The manufacturers are unquestionably losing a great deal of money, and, as far as we can see, the whole cause of the war is on account of a brand of plug tobacco called "Battle Ax," which appears to be as powerful a weapon as its name implies. The manufacturers of "Battle Ax" claim it to be the largest piece of high-grade goods ever sold for the money. And the success of the brand, the enormous quantity which is being sold, clearly demonstrates that the consumers have not been slow in detecting the fact that they have a bargain. This has caused the demand for other heretofore popular brands to be greatly diminished. Hence the present great tobacco war.

A REMARKABLE CURE.

A CASE OF PILES OF EIGHTEEN YEARS STANDING.

Cured by the Pyramid Pile Cure.

There are plenty of pile cures which give relief and sometimes cure a mild case of piles, but there is only one which can be depended upon with certainty to cure obstinate long standing cases, and that is the Pyramid Pile Cure

Endorsements and testimonials are received daily from men and women whose integrity and reliability are above question and in this connection a letter received from the Rev Jas. H Wesbrook, of Bowne, Mich, may be of interest to piles sufferers who have sought in vain for a cure He says:

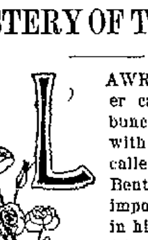

I have used the Pyramid Pile Cure and I know that it is all that is claimed for it I had been troubled with piles more or less for about eighteen years and I had tried other remedies, but the piles grew worse until about ten months ago I used the Pyramid Pile Cure. It gave almost instant relief and I have been free from piles ever since. Rev. Jas. H. Wesbrook.

The remedy seems to act equally well in every form of piles, blind, bleeding, protruding or itching. It stops all pain almost immediately, allays irritation and removes constipation, and anyone who has suffered the annoyance and pain of a rectal trouble will appreciate the excellent results which invariably follow the first application of the Pyramid.

The Pyramid Pile Cure is prepared by the Pyramid Drug Co. of Albion, Mich., and for sale by druggists everywhere.

Two sizes, 50 Cents and $1. Sold by all druggists.

MYSTERY OF THE ROSE

Lawrence Hunter carried a big bunch of pink roses with him when he called on Alma Bentley with an important mission in his mind, and he felt that he was particularly fortunate in having them, as they were country-bred roses, grown properly in the open air, and the last of the season.

He had heard the young woman bemoan the fact that she never saw any roses except those raised in hot-houses, that she did not consider art superior to nature, and should never forget the dear roses that grew in the country. In the garden of their old home—they were filled with tender associations.

Therefore Lawrence Hunter was full of a happy importance, as he presented her with the roses he had plucked himself from the bushes in a friend's garden that same day.

"You will find them delightfully fragrant," he said, as she took the great bunch of bloom in her fine, slim hands, and looked at them with such loving appreciation that the young man's pulse went up to fever heat.

She was dressed as became a rose-queen, in snowy white, and her golden hair was bound with a filet of blue, which color enhanced the fairness of her complexion, as she probably meant it should, in the artlessness of art. And as she held her lovely face with its delicate rose-color above the roses, the young man, strengthened his resolve to propose that——

But there is an old adage about man proposing. The queenly Alma knew that she could not continue to hold the roses without weariness, even flowers become burdensome, under certain conditions, and she placed them tenderly in a china vase, and when they were arranged to suit her fastidious taste, lingered to drink in their subtle beauty.

"They bring up the sweetest associations of a happy past," she said, romantically. "Petals of pink, and hearts of gold, how I love you! I revel in your adorable sweetness!"

And she buried her face in the mass of roses, the better to inhale their odor, and then Lawrence, who felt the insanity of jealousy stealing over him, noticed that her slender form was shaken with sobs, and he sprung to her assistance. But she gave a wild shriek and escaped from the room, leaving the astonished lover gazing into space.

He heard cries and exclamations, the hurry of flying feet, doors slamming, and—silence. He waited, but no one came, and he went home with a profound conviction that he had just escaped making a fool of himself—that Alma Bentley was a woman with a past, that he would call on her—or cultivate her society, no longer. And he lay awake all night, thanking his stars that he was not her accepted husband.

The next day he watched anxiously for some word, a note, any explanation, but none came. He wandered that way in the evening, and finding the house dark and closed, was so piqued and curious that he rung the bell and inquired if the young woman was at home.

"Yes," the domestic said, "but not able to see any one—quite ill, under the doctor's care."

"The plot thickens," said the young man to himself, as he turned away, more in love than ever, and determined to probe the mystery to its depths Suppose she had a past—so had he, and he laughed grimly as he thought of some pages of his life that he would have been glad to tear out and burn. Poor little girl! Some foolish romance of her early teens that had roses in it—and a lover! What then? How many love affairs of his own had left memories and associations—only he was a man and could forget. Well, he would teach her to forget if she would give him her confidence and love!

"POISON TASTER TO MY QUEEN."

He waited meekly but expectantly a week—two weeks, and when a third had nearly passed, met Alma face to face. Both were riding, but she threw him a sweet smile and a bow as they passed, and he thought he had never seen her looking so well, not excepting that fatal evening of the roses.

After a decorous time he called, and was as nervous as a woman as he waited to hear the rustle of her silken skirts, and learn from her lips the mystery of the incident of the roses.

There was no hint of illness or pallor, but just a slight shade of anxiety on her face as she cordially welcomed the young man.

"You must have thought me out of my senses," she said, as soon as they were seated, "when I rushed out of the room that night, but I could not help it, I lost all my self-control and cried like a child. Mamma said I was very silly."

"Were you so much overcome?" asked Lawrence kindly.

"Overcome? I was blind, frantic with pain."

"I have heard," said the young man, "of people to whom the odor of certain flowers was painful on account of memories. If I had only known that my unfortunate roses had the power to rouse slumbering recollections of happier days, rather than revive such memories, I would have left them wither on their stems!"

"Memories," repeated Alma vaguely, "what had they to do with me? I don't understand you, Mr. Hunter."

"Was it not an overpowering rush of associations connected with the roses that brought on your attack of illness?"

Alma ... d a moment, then laughed merrily.

"No, in ... it was the overpowering rush ... e concealed in one of the roses, ... stung my poor lip so that I was a ... ght for weeks and suffered from th... poison too."

"And it wasn't a memory?" Lawrence's tone was jubilant.

"No, but it is now, and a very disagreeable one. I am pledged hereafter to artificial roses"

"Let me have the life-long position of poison-taster to my queen," suggested Lawrence gallantly, and his queen, being in the mood, accepted him for the position.

THE SUN'S HEAT.

Would Melt a 200,000 Mile Icicle in a Single Second.

We believe that we are speaking the truth when we say that there is no more than one person in ten who has anything like a correct idea of what an icicle forty-five miles in diameter and 200,000 in length would look like. It is also true that there is no necessity for one being provided with a mind that would enable him to form a correct conception of such a gigantic cylinder of ice, for there is no probability that any one will ever live to see an icicle even half so large, yet it is interesting to know that Sir John Herschel, the great astronomer, used an illustration in one of his articles on the intensity of the sun's heat. After giving the diameter of the great blazing orb, and a calculation on the amount of heat radiated by each square foot of its immense surface, he closed by saying that if it were possible for an icicle forty-five miles in diameter and 200,000 miles long to plunge into the sun's great burning sea of gas, it would be melted away and utterly consumed, even to its vapor, in less than one second of time! Such an icicle would contain more cubic yards of ice than has formed on the rivers and lakes of the United States during the past 100 years; its base would cover the average Missouri county, and its length would be almost sufficient to reach the moon.

A Member of the Force.

"A good many amusing incidents came out in our first examination of the police," says Col. John W. Ela, the apostle of local civil service reform. "I recall one incident which struck me as being particularly funny. We were putting one of the patrolmen through, and the big fellow fumed and fretted and perspired as if he were actually in the sweat box. At last I asked him this question: 'What is a felony?'

"The poor fellow looked stunned for a moment or two, but finally there came an expression of returning reason into his eyes, and in a triumphant tone he answered: 'A t'ing on the t'umb!'"

A Boy Gets Entangled in Balloon Ropes and Makes an Ascension Against His Will

Lincoln, Ill., Sept 3—A balloon ascension and parachute jump by Professor Fry, in connection with the Labor day attractions, furnished an exciting event not intended. James Irving, a boy of seventeen, was in the way during the inflation of the balloon, and was caught in the ropes when the balloon was released, and to the horror of the aeronaut, was above him and could not be reached The voice of the aeronaut could be heard commanding him to lie still and hold on. The balloon ascended 2 500 feet, when the parachute was cut loose, and the aeronaut and lad landed safely in a corn field, both thoroughly frightened.

Cured of Gallstones.

May 27th, 1895.

The Dr. J. H. McLean Medicine Co., ST. LOUIS, MO.

Gentlemen: For upwards of ten years I suffered from what the doctors called neuralgia of the stomach, but they could do nothing for me. At one time I was taken with a most excruciating pain and in my agony I prayed for death to relieve me. My husband sent to Lincoln for another doctor, who came, and after examination, pronounced my trouble to be gallstones The only relief I received was when the doctors injected morphine, and that was only temporary. I was reading in your almanac where

Cured a case of gallstones My husband thought I had better try it, so he bought a bottle. That bottle gave me so much relief I was encouraged to keep on with it. I used seven bottles, and am now, thanks to its great healing power, cured sound and well. I am unable to express my gratitude to you for the benefit I have received from your wonderful medicine. I have recommended it to many people since my recovery, and shall always do so when I have the opportunity. You may make use of this letter in any way you desire. Yours respectfully,

ONE NIGHT IN A CHINESE CITY.

San Franciscan Describes Graphically a Sojourn in Canton

"Why, I wouldn't take a million dollars for the fun I had on that trip, said Sands Foreman to a San Francisco Call reporter 'and it is worth repeating You ought to go through China and stop over night in Canton That was one of the experiences that nearly drove me crazy Of course a fellow has such things happen even in the midst of the most delightful times All night long the local police togged out like an Italian panorama moved up and down the streets blowing horns and beating discordant cymbals for the purpose of driving away any thieves who might be operating in the city About 3 o clock they let up and a fat low rolls over to get in a little sleep In the midst of your dozing or about sunrise three fiends perch themselves on a wall across the street from the hotel and with a sort of ram s horn about four feet long proceed to blow glad blasts to the rising sun They seem to be trying to burst the horns and keep it up two or three hours This puts a stop to any further attempt to rest, so you have to get up and make the best of it I took a trip in a sort of sedan chair throughout the city Everybody moves about in that way No one thinks of walking The Chinamen who carried me four of them were dressed very slightly I don t suppose there was enough clothes on the four to flag a hand car I had a little more on happily, but about noon the perspiration was pouring off me in streams Hot? You never saw anything like it Why I had to hang all my clothes out to dry when I got back to the hotel Canton was too many for me so I got over to Tokio '

The physicians say such discoveries are frequently made in similar operations, though the development of the teeth and the quantity of hair found is altogether out of the ordinary. The interesting subject was taken in charge by Dr. Drayer, the city bacteriologist. Mrs. Kitselman, so her husband tells THE SENTINEL, is rapidly recovering from her illness and doing nicely.

REFORMED ORPHANS' HOME.

Supt. Rettig Speaks of Their Twelfth Anniversary Tomorrow.

Tomorrow will occur the twelfth anniversary of the Reformed Orphans' home, located east of our city. These anniversaries are public festivals which have increased in interest and attendance from year to year. The superintendent and also the ladies of the Reformed churches of the city will try their utmost to make the day a pleasant one for all visitors. The ladies of the St. John's German Reformed and those of the Grace church will attend to the tables, while those of the Salem church will have the ice cream, lemonade, etc, stands in their care. The stands will be in the pleasant grove belonging to the home. Rev. J. Bachmann, D. D., chairman of the board of the home, will open the exercises with prayer and a short address, after which the Revs. F. O Zeeh, of Cincinnati, O, and A. K. Zartman, of Fort Wayne, will deliver addresses in the German and English languages respectively. For a change in the program a few songs will be sung by the children of the home and the fact that during this time the collection baskets will be handed around for the benefit of the home should not be kept secret and I hope that the visitors will bring with them warm hearts and open hands willing to give and thus be mindful of the Lord's words when He says: "Remember the orphans" The "Goeglein Band" has been engaged, and it will render good music For those who cannot be with us during the day, due care has been taken and an entertainment will be held till 9 o'clock, in which they can share. An agreement has been made with the Street Car company to bring guests from any part of the city to the eastern entrance of the 'race track" for five cents, where there will be a sufficient number of busses to convey them promptly to the home for another five cents.

Come! Come! All our friends and help to keep up this institution and help to encourage those who labor in this beautiful, but also difficult cause.

Yours Respectfully,
JNO. H. RETTIG, Supt.

The First Regiment band discoursed the sweetest music, and the program was for the music and pictures to alternate in periods of about fifteen to twenty minutes. In the periods of time allotted to him Rev. Leeper conducted the audience on short excursions to almost every part of the globe—Greenland, Lapland, Norway, the Rhine, Italy, Turkey, the Hawaiian and Cannibal islands of the Pacific ocean, besides giving one beautiful series of children's pictures, and many fine dissolving effects and views about the city of Fort Wayne. Many of the views shown were of Mr. Leeper's own production, he having mastered the photographic art in order to make views for his own use. Mr Harry Tarman manipulated the apparatus Upon the whole, the entertainment were instructive and delightful and a good departure for Labor day.

THEODORE DURRANT.

The Accused Murderer of Miss Lamont on Trial.

District Attorney Barnes Opens the Case With an Address Outlining the Course of the Prosecution.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—The actual trial of Theodore Durrant for the murder of Blanche Lamont commenced today. District Attorney Barnes delivered the opening address, which is as follows:

At this point in the trial and before proceeding with the evidence it becomes my duty as a representative of the people to make what is called the opening statement of the case. The opening statement should not be regarded by you in the light of testimony, neither should it be regarded as an argument upon the facts. It should not have any weight with you, nor should you consider it as a mitigation against the prisoner. It is merely a statement of what the people expect to prove—a statement of the evidence which they intend to set for your consideration, and upon which they will confidently rely for a verdict at your hands which shall sweep away the sophistries and the technicalities that have enveloped criminal proceedings in this state as with a garment, and shall declare that the land we live in is blessed not only with the manifold gifts of nature and of God to man, but is further blessed with the hard, clear common sense that can rise above the tortorous environments that surrounds the criminal and punish the crime committed in the manner required and demanded by all laws, both human and divine.

We will show you that in the month of September, 1894, Blanche Lamont, a young girl about twenty years of age, came to San Francisco from her home at Dillon, Mont., in the hope that the mild climate of California might benefit her health. She went to reside with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Noble, and from the time of her arrival here until April 3, she was engaged in attending school. She was not a society girl in any sense of the word. She was of a quiet disposition, home keeping and religious. She never attended parties nor theatres or other places of amusement, except in company with her relatives.

We will show that Blanche Lamont in her life time was well, too well, and yet not well enough acquainted with the prisoner, Durrant; that he was in the habit of accompanying her home from church and prayer meetings; that he was a caller upon her at her aunt's house; that upon the only occasion upon which she ever went anywhere with any young man, as far as we are informed, she visited the park one afternoon in company with Durrant. We will give you a history of her life and her movements, as far as we are able, up to the 3d of April, 1895. In order that you may form a just appreciation of the character and the habits of this unfortunate young girl. We will show you her connection with the defendant and we will show you the reason why, when the murdered body of Blanche Lamont was found in the darkened belfry of Emanuel church, and the question sprang from the lips of every resident of this city and of this county: "Who is the murderer?"

Why is it that the state answers that he who was responsible for the slaughter of this young life is William Henry Theodore Durrant—Durrant, once the friend of Blanche Lamont; Durrant, once in charge of the Sunday school libraries; Durrant, once assistant superintendent of the Emanuel Sunday school; Durrant, once the electrician who knew the ins and outs of the great building; Durrant, once the handy man and jack of all trades at the church, and now Durrant, the prisoner, and on trial for his life? We shall show Durrant's connection with the case; shall demonstrate by irrefutable and unanswerable evidence, that he, and he alone, committed the murder. If we show you these facts—show you that Durrant met this ill-fated girl on the day of her death; that he accompanied her to the church; that he was seen to enter the church with her, that he was seen afterwards in the church alone, that Blanche Lamont was never seen again by human eyes from the moment when she entered the portals of Emanuel Baptist church with the defendant, that in the church was found her dead body, her clothes, her school books—showing that she had never been home—and that she had gone straight from her school to her death; if we show you, as we confidently expect to, that no one but the prisoner could have committed this outrageous and horrible crime, we shall look to you as a citizens of the great state whose reputation for justice and for enforcement of the laws, we, as its officers, are to uphold, to render your verdict that the prisoner at the bar is guilty of murder in the first degree.

CHOLERA IN HONOLULU

Creates a Scare Among the Pacific Coast People.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 3.—The prevalence of cholera in Honolulu and the Orient has created a scare here. The local board of health is already adopting stringent measures to repel its invasion. City Physician Wheeler says that at no time have Pacific coast cities been so seriously menaced by the scourge as now. Winter is no protection against the disease, as the germs flourish in all temperatures. He says the situation is alarming; people must not be deceived; and health ordinances must be vigorously enforced. All vessels coming here from foreign ports will be carefully examined and quarantined if necessary.

BRICE'S TRUNK LINE.

New York and Chicago to be Closely Connected.

The First Important Step Was the Purchasing Today of the C. A. & C. Stock.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 3.—The Cleveland, Akron and Columbus railroad is no more. Calvin S. Brice has at last gained control of the line and will hereafter guide its fortunes. Yesterday the board of directors, consisting of Frank Rockefeller, William Chisholm, J. H. Hoyt, L. M. Cole and G. W. Saul, met and after a long and exciting session the finishing touch was put on a railroad deal that puts Mr. Brice in control of the road. Senator Brice was not present, but was represented by Col. A. L. Conger and C. N. Haskell. The main business transacted was the sale of over 10,000 shares of stock owned and controlled by President G. W. Saul for nearly $500,000. After the transfer Calvin S. Brice was unanimously elected president of the new organization. The new board of directors and officials have not yet been named. The Cleveland, Akron and Columbus will undoubtedly be used as a link in Mr. Brice's trunk line from Chicago to New York.

INDIANS BLAMELESS.

Had Nothing to Do With Instigating Trouble.

They Are Under Perfect Control and Afraid to Say Boo to a Goose, Says General Coppinger.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—General Coppinger, who had command of the recent military expedition to the Jackson's Hole country, is in the city and today had a conference with Secretary Lamont, to which Commissioner of Indian Affairs Browning was invited. "I do not consider the Indians were to blame for the Jackson Hole affair," said General Coppinger at the close of the conference. "They are entirely quiet now, and have been, in fact. They would not say boo to a goose." One question which the general brought to the attention of Secretary Lamont and Commissioner Browning was the advisability of annexing the Jackson Hole country to the Yellowstone National park. He suggested that this action would solve the problem by preventing all parties hunting and fishing in that section, and said that as the country was not densely settled he thought there would be comparatively little difficulty in making the change. Commissioner Browning, replying to the suggestion said that in the first place it would be a matter for Secretary Smith and then for congress, adding that he did not know how the people of Wyoming would regard it, as it would deprive that state of the territory with which it may not desire to part. General Coppinger had his report on the Indian trouble with him, and it was gone over quite thoroughly. The report has been turned over to Secretary Lamont and he is not yet prepared to give it out. The general, in reply to a question, said that the report was brief. He declined to say whether he had made any recommendations for the continuance of troops in the Jackson Hole country or for the punishment of those who had precipitated the trouble.

PROHIBITIONISTS.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Sept. 3.—The prohibition state convention opened this morning with prayer by Rev. Stanley B. Roberts, of Utica, and C. R. Hawley, of Saratoga. State Chairman Downing, of Poughkeepsie, read the call for the convention. An address of welcome was made by Village President Charles H. Sturges. Rev. Dr. J. M. Fulk, of King's county, was chosen temporary chairman. The appointing of committees on credentials, rules, order, permanent organization, resolutions and platform consumed the balance of the morning session.

Bank Closed.

STORM LAKE, Iowa, Sept. 3.—Great excitement prevails over the closing of the Buena Vista state bank. Depositors are largely people with earnings of years entrusted to the bank. Its doors were closed yesterday morning and a big crowd fills the streets. It would only need a word to lead to deeds of violence, the business methods of the Lemon family, who are in the institution, having caused great indignation.

PRESCOTT, Ari., Sept. 3.—Judge Henry F. Fluedy, who came to Arizona with the first set of territorial officers in 1863, died here last night of nervous disease. Judge Fluedy served as secretary of territory and also as acting governor during the early history of Arizona.

Prof. Wm. Miles has returned from a summer outing at Eagle lake.

BELONGS TO THE STATE

Does the Accretion Lands Adjacent to Chicago.

Uncle Sam Has No Claim Upon Them and the Secretary of the Interior Has So Announced.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—The acting secretary of the interior has rendered three important decisions regarding the ownership of immensely valuable accretion lands lying north of the Chicago river in the city of Chicago. The gist of the decisions is that the land does not belong to the United States government, but probably does belong to the state of Illinois. The first case is that of George W. Streeter and P. T. Johnson, who applied to make homestead entry of about 150 acres of land lying on both sides of the Chicago river at its mouth in Lake Michigan. It is a portion of land filled in by dumping on the meander line established by the government survey in 1821, and the present water line. Johnson claims to have lived there in a house built on piles for sixteen years and Streeter claims to have been wrecked there in 1886 and to have lived there for two years. Technically, this land is part of sections 3 and 10 of township 39, and these sections, the secretary says, were selected by the state of Illinois in 1827 for canal purposes under authority of an act of congress. The secretary says that the state of Illinois owns the lands under the navigable waters of Lake Michigan within its limits and that the filling in by any person or corporation, not the owners of shore lands, gives them no riparian rights. In any case he says the United States government has no title, and therefore could convey none to any claimants. The second case is that of Jacob Nine and others against N. K. Fairbanks and others. The former tried to locate military bounty land warrants on 120 acres of accretion land north of the Chicago river, between the original survey meander line and the present water line. The secretary decides that the United States has no title to the land. The third case is that of Peter T. Johnson, who joined with Streeter in the first mentioned application to locate Valentine scrip on fifty-five acres of accretion land south of the Chicago river. It is rejected like the others for want of title by the United States government.

WILL UNITE FORTUNES.

Two Wealthy Young People Will Marry.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 3.—The engagement of Miss Gertrude Vanderbilt and Mr. Moses Taylor, though not formally announced, is now conceded by their friends. The attachment is a most natural one. Mr. Taylor was the special friend of the late William H. Vanderbilt, the brother of his fiancee, and the families have long been on terms of intimate friendship. The great fortune of Miss Vanderbilt is almost matched by the millions of Mr. Taylor. He is the second son of Henry A. C. Taylor, and his inheritance came from his grandfather, Moses Taylor, one of the most successful and respected of the old-time merchants. Miss Gertrude Vanderbilt is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt and one of the world's richest heiresses. She is pretty and attractive, slightly above the medium height and slender. Her complexion is fair, her features small and regular, her eyes gray and her hair brown and abundant. Mr. Taylor was a graduate from Yale college in the class of '95 and belongs to the Knickerbocker and Metropolitan clubs of New York. He is an enthusiast in all athletic outdoor sports and has become an expert at golf this season.

Foster Not Arrested.

BERNE, Sept. 3.—The report of the arrest of William F. Foster, the New York embezzler, at Zurich, is without foundation. Hotels and other places in Zurich, where it is thought the fugitive might be concealed, were searched but no trace of him was found. It is now thought that Foster has not been in Zurich at all.

FRAKER CAPTURED.

Detectives Find Him in the Wilds of Minnesota.

The Man Who Had $58,000 Insurance and Plays the Part of a Dead Man Comes to Grief.

DULUTH, Minn., Sept. 2.—George Fraker, of Topeka, Kas., the man who was supposed to have been drowned in the Missouri river two years ago, was captured in the woods near Tower, Minn., yesterday. Fraker's life was insured for $58,000, and the heirs brought suit in the Kansas courts to recover. The case went to the supreme court and was one of the most famous insurance cases of the country. The insurance companies were defeated in the final decision, it being recorded last month.

It was always maintained by the companies that Fraker was alive, but his whereabouts were unknown. Recently it became known in someway that Fraker was near Tower, where he was known under the alias of Schnell. Attorney Robert T. Harris and Deputy Sheriff Wilkinson, of Topeka, came here and organized a party to search for him.

Fraker was found in the woods and his capture was effected in a stragetic manner. He was brought to Duluth today and was taken to Topeka at once. Fraker will go with out a requisition. He has been living near Tower for six months. He admitted his identity, and said he did not leave home on purpose to defraud the companies, but that while he was near the Missouri river he fell in. He swam across the river and got on land. The next day he read in the papers that he had been drowned and concluded to carry out the deception and allow his heirs to collect the insurance.

BALLOON BATTERY.

From the Clouds It Rains Down Leaden Hail.

An Invention Which Will Lead to Speedy Extermination of Warring Factions.

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 3.—Samuel Andrews, a machinist in this city, claims to have perfected a war balloon which he has sold to a syndicate of New York Cubans for use in the aid of the Cuban insurgents.

The balloon has been thoroughly tested in the fields of New Jersey, and is said to work perfectly. Instead of an ordinary car, it is fitted with an armored box, from which a number of bombs can be suspended.

The bombs are ignited and released by automatic machinery in the box, and after all are discharged the box explodes, destroying the balloon and the secret mechanism.

The machinery is worked by a steel spring. Andrews claims to have a device by which he can control the direction of the balloon.

The Chinese Riots.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—The Baptist Ministers union, of San Francisco, has forwarded to Secretary Olney a memorial in which he is urged to endeavor to secure the appointment of a commission to investigate the recent missionary riots in China. SLASHED WITH A KNIFE.

Sherman W. Abrams Rushes to the Assistance of a Cripple

And For His Humane Deed He Receives Three Cuts on the Face and One on the Hand.

Between 8 and 9 o'clock last night occurred a most serious cutting affray at the saloon of John Nolan, at the corner of Lafayette and Hamilton streets. At that time Sherman W. Abrams, a switchman for the Pennsylvania company, was going home, and when he arrived at the place above mentioned he heard loud voices in the saloon and went inside to see what was going on. When he got inside he found that a man nicknamed "Saws" and Frank Conners were teasing Tony Rosenberger, a cigarmaker.

Abrams went to the assistance of Rosenberger, who is a cripple, and insisted that the men should stop plaguing him, but "Saws" paid no attention to the warning. Seeing this, Abrams went for the man and pummeled him in good style. Conners attempted to separate the men when he saw them fighting. He grabbed hold of Abrams to pull him off the other man, and it was while Conners had hold of Abrams that the man "Saws" got in his work with a knife, inflicting on Abrams several ugly looking gashes, one extending from the base of the skull at the back of the head to the front of the neck, exposing the arteries so that one could them pulsating. Another cut extended a distance of four inches across the left cheek, downward from the eye, and another and smaller cut on the same cheek. His right hand was also split open.

Abrams was taken to the office of Dr. A. J. Kesler, where his wounds were dressed, and he was then taken to his home, No. 31 LaSelle street. Dr. Kesler states that the wounds will not prove dangerous unless suppuration sets in.

Fred Myers was picked up by Officer Paul on Calhoun street.

Charles Steedly was the third man. He was arrested yesterday by Officer Hines for appropriating a horse and wagon while he was in an intoxicated condition.

Addison, of Zanesville, Ohio, asking him to find her husband, who is a blacksmith and left home four weeks ago to go to the Barton institute for treatment, but stayed only four days. The Winona assembly grounds are nearly deserted and a few days will see all but one or two cottages closed. President Conner is busy preparing to leave and will probably take his departure tomorrow. Dr. Scott, the secretary of the association, has announced his intention of remaining at least two or three weeks longer and will probably be the last to leave the grounds. The Fort Wayne contingent is rapidly departing from the grounds and all of them will be home by Thursday.

Bartley, Heller and Peltier, of this city, each won a prize at the Huntington races yesterday. In the five mile race, Bartley got mixed in a tumble, disabling both wheel and rider. This is the third time this young man has had a tumble in as many races. Peltier made an attempt to ride a mile in 1:02 or better and made it in 1:03, a track record for Huntington. Goff did not appear as he is laid up with a very bad leg at his father's home, in Fremont, Ind., and will do no more racing for some time. He recently won two seconds at Howard City, Mich.

KILLED BY A FALL.

Mrs. Geo. Baldwin Meets With Death by an Accident.

She Falls From a Street Car and Breaks Her Neck—Minor Accidents.

Mrs. George Baldwin, of 11 Hough street, got on a street car last night to go to the entertainment at Berghoff's park, on East Washington street. When near the corner of Walter and East Washington streets her hat was blown from her head and in attempting to catch it she fell backward off the car and struck on the back of her head with great force. Mrs. Baldwin was picked up and carried into Freese's grocery store and Dr. W. F. Schrader summoned, but before medical assistance could be rendered the woman's life had fled.

The remains were taken to her home by Undertaker Peltier and Coroner Harrod made an investigation of the accident and rendered a verdict of accidental death, as the woman's neck had been broken by the fall from the car.

Mrs. Baldwin was about thirty-five years old and has lived in Fort Wayne since childhood. She leaves a husband and two children, a boy aged twelve and a girl of fourteen, both by a former husband.

The funeral will occur Thursday morning at 10 o'clock from the home, and the interment will be at Lindenwood cemetery.

OTHER ACCIDENTS.

Harry Quinn, of 90 Thomas street, was run into by a bicycle rider on the track at Centlivre's park yesterday and knocked down. His leg was badly skinned and several teeth were loosened.

The three-year-old son of Fred Bohnmann, of East Jefferson street, climbed into the hay loft yesterday afternoon. On attempting to descend the little fellow missed his footing and fell to the floor below, sustaining a severe scalp wound and painful injuries about the body and limbs. Dr. Duemling attended.

Miss Minnie McWhorter was struck in the back by a batted ball yesterday afternoon at Centlivre's park and had to be taken home in a carriage.

Charles Adams, a wheelman en route from Annapolis, Md., to Peru, Ind., fell yesterday and fractured his right arm. He was taken to Hope hospital and Dr. Schrader reduced the fracture.

Joshua Gerard, of Holman street, fell down stairs Sunday afternoon and sustained painful injuries. Dr. George C. Stemen, the attending physician, found three ribs had been fractured.

Today Reinholt Liebmann was taking his father-in-law's dinner to him at the Bass works, and when on Hanna street the horse he was driving ran away, throwing him out of the buggy and mashing his nose. Dr. Will Ferguson dressed the injury. The horse was picked up by the police at the corner of Hanna and Charles streets.

COUNTY ORPHANS' HOME.

Commissioners Receive Bids for Its Construction.

The monthly meeting of the Humane society was held yesterday afternoon in T. E. Ellison's office and the report of the agent was received. It was then decided to send as a delegate to the national convention of Humane societies, which meets in Minneapolis, Louis C. Schlaudroff, the local agent.

The trustees of the Allen County Orphan's Home held a meeting directly after and received the report of the building committee, of which Mr. Ellison is the chairman. The highest bid was that of William Thurman, $6,517 40 for building and $327 for the contagious ward. The lowest bid was that of Korte & Son, $4,852 for building and $656 for contagious ward. The building is to be done by the 15th day of November. The contract will be let this week. The report of Mrs. G. D. Crane, chairman of the visiting committee, shows that in the past two months good homes have been found for seven children. There are thirteen children for the home.

is the condition of our system if the liver becomes inactive, so that the germs and poisons can accumulate within the body. Keep the liver and bowels active and we're in a condition of healthy prosperity and have sufficiently well invested capital to draw upon in the hour of need. The liver filters out the poisonous germs which enter the system. Just so surely as the liver regulates the system, so do Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate the liver. Keep this in mind, and you solve the problem of good health and good living. The "Pleasant Pellets" have a tonic, strengthening effect upon the lining membranes of the stomach and bowels, which effectually cures Biliousness, Sick Headache, Costiveness, or Constipation, Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Bad Taste in Mouth, Sour Risings from Stomach, and will often cure Dyspepsia. The "Pellets" are tiny, because the vegetable extracts are refined and concentrated. Easy in action, no griping as with old-fashioned pills. As a "dinner pill," to promote digestion, take one each day after dinner. To relieve the distress arising from over-eating, nothing equals one of these little "Pellets."

MRS. MELISSA ATWATER, of Steuben, Washington Co., Me., writes: "As regards the little 'Pellets,' I think I could not do without them. I do not like to be without them in the house. I have spoken very highly to friends and neighbors of them, and many are taking them through my advertising them. I will say they are the best pill I can take, especially for an after-dinner pill, I think they have no equal."

THE Delphi Times proposes to try a daily issue.

LIMA had magnificent weather for the celebration of their anniversary day.

MR. S. E. MORSS, consul general to Paris, is home on a visit and looking after his interests as editor and proprietor of the Indianapolis Sentinel.

THE Labor day addresses delivered by Judge S. M. Hench, C. H. Bliss and Mayor Oakley, at Centlivre's park yesterday, were fine oratorical efforts and warmly praised by the large number of people who heard them.

THOUSANDS of people will turn their eyes, if not their thoughts, heavenward tonight to look at the eclipse of the moon. By standard time the eclipse will be total a few minutes after 10 o'clock and will remain so until 12:46 o'clock.

IT is understood that the report on the Nicaragua canal now in the hands of Secretary Lamont, is favorable to the canal, but bears somewhat heavily on the methods of the canal company, particularly as to estimates of the amount needed to complete the canal. The commission says it will take $115,000,000 to complete the canal, which is $45,000,000 more than the company's estimate.

EVERY person should have a good word for the centennial. Let us try to get some of the big excursions headed this way, instead of sending the crowds out of the city. We have one of the best cities in the world and we should take delight in showing it up to our neighbors and friends. The coming centennial celebration should bring to Fort Wayne one of the largest crowds ever seen here and it looks now as if such would be the case.

POLITICIANS of both parties are dubious as to the prospects of raising the necessary funds for the campaign of next year. The manufacturers from whom the major part of subscriptions come are no longer excitable about the tariff. Since the enactment of the present law they have cultivated the belief that neither party is an enemy to American industries and that public sentiment will not tolerate much tinkering with the present tariff.

MR. PERRY A. RANDALL has a strong letter in THE SENTINEL today on the question of purchasing the gravel roads and making them free. This is one of the most important questions that Allen county has to settle. Years ago our gravel roads should have been made free and it is a shame and disgrace that people have to pay toll in a free country like this. It costs almost as much to drive over the toll roads as it does to ride on the railroads. Hundreds of farmers are kept away from Fort Wayne every week by this outrageous charging of toll.

THE county commissioners are to be commended for their action in refusing to give a saloon license to an applicant for a renewal against whom it was proven that he had been conducting his saloon in an improper manner, by selling liquor to minors and on Sundays, and that he had been arrested for having violated the Nicholson law. The business of the saloonkeeper is such that it, at all times, ought to be kept within the strict requirements of the law and the saloonkeeper who does not thus conduct it ought not to be allowed to have a liquor license.

MILLIONAIRE M. F. PAYNE, who died a few days ago at his home in Malvern, Iowa, was a life-long friend of Jefferson Davis, and when the latter was elected president of the Southern Confederacy he appointed Payne secretary of the interior, but he never served in that capacity. On the contrary, he came north and settled in Fremont county, Iowa, where he amassed a fortune estimated at from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000. He owned land in every state in the union except one, though the most of his estate was in Fremont county, where he had 16,000 acres. When Jefferson Davis died he owed Mr. Payne $100,000. Payne was called to Davis' home in Mississippi to preach his funeral sermon. Mr. Payne left most of his fortune to charitable institutions.

Legal Character of Labor Day.

Labor day in Indiana is not a full legal holiday, though generally observed in cities by abstention from the usual occupations, and by the closing of banks, boards of trade and other places of business. The holidays in Indiana as to commercial paper are the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday, the 1st day of January, the 4th day of July, the 25th day of December, any day appointed or recommended by the president of the United States or the governor of the state of Indiana as a public fast or thanksgiving; the 22d day of February, commonly called Washington's birthday; the 30th of May, called Memorial day, and the first Monday in September, called Labor day. These and the day of any general national or state election shall be legal holidays within the state of Indiana, and all bills of exchange, bank checks, promissory notes or other negotiable or commercial paper falling due or maturing on either of said holidays shall be deemed as having matured on the day previous. When the legal holiday comes on Sunday the day following shall be the holiday. The law does not forbid the sale of liquors on Labor day. The observance of the day so far as the cessation from work is concerned, is left wholly to the individual to decide for himself. This, however, is true of all the other holidays in the year, Sundays alone excepted. Labor day is also a legal national holiday. The postmaster says that in accordance with the rules the office is closed just as on the Fourth of July. All of the federal offices are closed.

The state arbitration law recently passed in Illinois is one of the best devised hitherto. Under its provisions the board of arbitration will consist of three members. Of these one must be an employer of labor and another must be a workingman and a member of a labor organization. Any strike or lockout in an establishment employing more than 25 workmen may legally be taken in hand by the board. It will investigate both sides and recommend to the two opposing parties such settlement as seems to it wise. Of course the law cannot compel either side to accept the settlement, but a recommendation of the state board will undoubtedly have due weight. One provision of the law is that no two members of the board shall be of the same political party. A state in which this law is in force will need to keep on hand a varied assortment of political parties.

If the new submarine boat built in France for the Brazilian government does what is claimed for it, then even sunken torpedoes will no longer be a reliable defense for a harbor. The new boat is small in size, but can remain under water 15 hours. It is not necessary to depend on the outer air for ventilation, for reservoir tubes of oxygen inside the vessel itself will supply this. As the air gets foul it will be pumped out of the vessel down into the sea. An electric motor will propel the craft. The little vessel is cigar shaped. It is expected that it will be able to hunt about under water for concealed torpedoes, and also to cut the wires which are expected to explode torpedoes under ships. Three men comprise the crew.

Minnesota has made provision for giving much pleasure and profit to that put upon class of community, farmers' wives. At the state university this season there has been in session a summer school of dairying and domestic economy. It was an experiment to find out whether farmers' wives and daughters desired to be scientifically instructed in their special lines of work. The result was most encouraging. There were many students, in age ranging from 18 upward. The making of various kinds of delicious cheeses at home was taught. So was the manufacture of butter according to the most scientific methods. Cooking and chemical lectures completed the instruction in this invaluable course.

There are hundreds of millions of dollars in Europe awaiting investment. Just as soon as the United States can convince the owners of this money that her railroads are getting out of the hands of receivers, that her vast industries are on a sound financial basis, her business men strictly honest, capable, and men of their word, then the gold of Europe will begin to flow to this country so fast that we shall not know what to do with it.

The sultan says he will at once issue a "decree of reform." Reform in Turkey means what it does to an American ward politician.

Strong Letter From P. A. Randall on Toll Roads.

Allen County Should Have Free Gravel Roads and Now is the Opportune Time for Action.

To the Editor of THE SENTINEL:

It is stated that seven out of thirteen toll roads in the state of Indiana are in Allen county. Allen county leads in nearly everything, but it can hardly be to her credit that she outstrips all the rest of the state in this relic of by-gone ages toll roads. With thirteen out of the twenty main wagon roads entering the city of Fort Wayne, now free gravel roads, it seems to say nothing more, that these seven should also be free. We shall celebrate this fall the centennial of our city, why would it not be a good time to celebrate also the freeing of our city from this incubus of the past?

The county commissioners have been laboring with the problem all summer, but have not been able to see their way clear to come to the terms of the gravel road owners. The county commissioners are conservative men, watching the interests of the public and will not pay more for these roads than they believe they are worth. I think all fair minded men commend them in this. If they were reckless enthusiasts in this matter and ready to give away the people's money to an extent not justified by their judgment, we should expect the same of them in other things. To some of us who are interested only in the good of the city of Fort Wayne and the county the conservative policy of the commissioners has been a cause of severe comment. To us the giving of a few thousand dollars, more or less, for accomplishing an object so beneficial, has seemed a little matter. Some of us, too, have been inclined to criticise the gravel road owners for refusing to come to the terms proposed by the commissioners, and have charged them with niggardliness and lack of public spirit and have perhaps said things that were even more uncomplimentary than these. Still, when we calmly consider the matter, we ought not to condemn the road owners for wanting pay for their property. At one time we thought them benefactors to the public. When the country roads were almost impassible and the public would do nothing to make them better, we were only to thankful that there were men in the community who were willing to invest their money to make good roads. The great cost of building these roads has left very small profits to their owners. We ought not to forget past favors so soon. A fair consideration ought to be had for these property interests. At least the owners of the roads are justified in getting what they can out of their properties.

On the other hand, it must be taken into account that these roads can be built much cheaper today than formerly; that they have been paralleled by free gravel roads until they make but a small return on the capital invested and the most of them are in a bad state of repair, and it would cost the county a great deal to put them in good order. They never will serve as a good investment for their owners again. These men are like many other classes of business men—they have had the life of their business taken away by the advancement of the age, like the owners of the old stage coach line that had their property ruined by the steam cars, or the owners of the old horse cars that had them thrown to the rubbish pile by the incoming electric car, or as the owners of the old time printing presses had to make scrap of their once valuable machinery to make room for the improved kind of printing presses.

The age advances so fast that what was new yesterday is old today, and no one dares make investments without taking this into account, nor hold on to investments already made without carefully considering the consequences.

But after all is said and done, the fact remains that we have the toll roads with us, and are likely to have them with us for a long time yet as a menace to our county's interests, unless something extraordinary is done to get rid of them. It is folly to talk of destroying them by parallel lines. This could, of course, be done, but there is no wisdom in doing it, for the cost o parallel lines would be double that of buying the roads already built, besides these roads are better located than the parallel lines could possibly be, and the people have built with reference to them, and it would damage incalculably many of the best homes of the country to change the main lines of travel.

What then shall be done? I would suggest that a mass meeting be held at the circuit court room to take action in the matter, and that people along the lines of these roads as well as the citizens of Fort Wayne and the county in general be asked to attend this meeting. This mass meeting could appoint committees to confer with the commissioners and the owners of the roads and ascertain the differences between them. Committees could also be appointed if thought necessary, to raise funds to pay these differences. The time is ripe for this. For the next seven weeks the attention of our citizens will be directed to our city and its needs. Its past will be recalled, its achievements for the past 100 years recounted, its present proud position declaimed and its grand future prophesied. During this time, we will learn to be patriots and all will be filled with the zeal of public spirit. Not only will the citizens of Fort Wayne feel this public spirit but it will extend to the whole county. The city of Fort Wayne belongs to the whole county and every man and woman in it is interested in its success. This is the proper time to take hold of the question of freeing the gravel roads. It will give us another reason to celebrate. Let us have the mass meeting and set the ball a rolling. We can celebrate a county free from toll roads this fall if we will.

Roy Peibles Enters a Bicycle Race Under an Assumed Name.

PANA, Ill., Sept. 3.—It is reported that "D. B. Saunders," who won the mile and repeat bicycle race and cash prize at the fair here Friday, is a ringer his real name being Roy Peibles, a crack rider in class A of the League of American Wheelmen, who a week ago won a race at St. Louis, defeating the best rider of the country. His race here, if it really was Peibles, forever debars him from racing at League meets.

The Tobacco War.

The present war existing between the big plug tobacco manufacturers is proving very interesting for the consumers, they being the only ones who are profiting by this war. The manufacturers are unquestionably losing a great deal of money, and, as far as we can see, the whole cause of the war is on account of a brand of plug tobacco called "Battle Ax," which appears to be as powerful a weapon as its name implies. The manufacturers of "Battle Ax" claim it to be the largest piece of high grade goods ever sold for the money. And the success of the brand, the enormous quantity which is being sold, clearly demonstrates that the consumers have not been slow in detecting the fact that they have a bargain. This has caused the demand for other heretofore popular brands to be greatly diminished. Hence the present great tobacco war.

A REMARKABLE CURE.

A CASE OF PILES OF EIGHTEEN YEARS STANDING.

Cured by the Pyramid Pile Cure.

There are plenty of pile cures which give relief and sometimes cure a mild case of piles, but there is only one which can be depended upon with certainty to cure obstinate long standing cases, and that is the Pyramid Pile Cure.

Endorsements and testimonials are received daily from men and women whose integrity and reliability are above question and in this connection a letter received from the Rev. Jas. H. Wesbrook, of Bowne, Mich., may be of interest to piles sufferers who have sought in vain for a cure. He says:

I have used the Pyramid Pile Cure and I know that it is all that is claimed for it. I had been troubled with piles more or less for about eighteen years and I had tried other remedies, but the piles grew worse until about ten months ago I used the Pyramid Pile Cure. It gave almost instant relief and I have been free from piles ever since. Rev. Jas. H. Wesbrook.

The remedy seems to act equally well in every form of piles, blind, bleeding, protruding or itching. It stops all pain almost immediately, allays irritation and removes constipation, and anyone who has suffered the annoyance and pain of a rectal trouble will appreciate the excellent results which invariably follow the first application of the Pyramid.

The Pyramid Pile Cure is prepared by the Pyramid Drug Co. of Albion, Mich., and for sale by druggists everywhere.

Two sizes, 50 Cents and $1. Sold by all druggists.

MYSTERY OF THE ROSE

LAWRENCE HUNTER carried a big bunch of pink roses with him when he called on Alma Bentley with an important mission in his mind, and he felt that he was particularly fortunate in having them, as they were country-bred roses, grown properly in the open air, and the last of the season.

He had heard the young woman bemoan the fact that she never saw any roses except those raised in hot-houses, that she did not consider art superior to nature, and should never forget the dear roses that grew in the country. In the garden of their old home—they were filled with tender associations.

Therefore Lawrence Hunter was full of a happy importance, as he presented her with the roses he had plucked himself from the bushes in a friend's garden that same day.

"You will find them delightfully fragrant," he said, as she took the great bunch of bloom in her fine, slim hands, and looked at them with such loving appreciation that the young man's pulse went up to fever heat.

She was dressed as became a rose-queen, in snowy white, and her golden hair was bound with a fillet of blue, which color enhanced the fairness of her complexion, as she probably meant it should, in the artlessness of art. And as she held her lovely face with its delicate rose-color above the roses, the young man, strengthened his resolve to propose that——

But there is an old adage about man proposing. The queenly Alma knew that she could not continue to hold the roses without weariness, even flowers become burdensome, under certain conditions, and she placed them tenderly in a china vase, and when they were arranged to suit her fastidious taste, lingered to drink in their subtle beauty.

"They bring up the sweetest associations of a happy past," she said, romantically. "Petals of pink, and hearts of gold, how I love you! I revel in your adorable sweetness!"

And she buried her face in the mass of roses, the better to inhale their odor, and then Lawrence, who felt the insanity of jealousy stealing over him, noticed that her slender form was shaken with sobs, and he sprung to her assistance. But she gave a wild shriek and escaped from the room, leaving the astonished lover gazing into space.

He heard cries and exclamations, the hurry of flying feet, doors slamming, and—silence. He waited, but no one came, and he went home with a profound conviction that he had just escaped making a fool of himself—that Alma Bentley was a woman with a past, that he would call on her—or cultivate her society, no longer. And he lay awake all night, thanking his stars that he was not her accepted husband.

The next day he watched anxiously for some word, a note, any explanation, but none came. He wandered that way in the evening, and finding the house dark and closed, was so piqued and curious that he rung the bell and inquired if the young woman was at home.

"Yes," the domestic said, "but not able to see any one—quite ill, under the doctor's care."

"The plot thickens," said the young man to himself, as he turned away, more in love than ever, and determined to probe the mystery to its depths. Suppose she had a past—so had he, and he laughed grimly as he thought of some pages of his life that he would have been glad to tear out and burn. Poor little girl! Some foolish romance of her early teens that had roses in it—and a lover! What then? How many love affairs of his own had left memories and associations—only he was a man and could forget. Well, he would teach her to forget if she would give him her confidence and love!

He waited meekly but expectantly a week—two weeks, and when a third had nearly passed, met Alma face to face. Both were riding, but she threw him a sweet smile and a bow as they passed, and he thought he had never seen her looking so well, not excepting that fatal evening of the roses.

After a decorous time he called, and was as nervous as a woman as he waited to hear the rustle of her silken skirts, and learn from her lips the mystery of the incident of the roses.

There was no hint of illness or pallor, but just a slight shade of anxiety on her face as she cordially welcomed the young man.

"You must have thought me out of my senses," she said, as soon as they were seated, "when I rushed out of the room that night; but I could not help it, I lost all my self-control and cried like a child. Mamma said I was very silly."

"Were you so much overcome?" asked Lawrence kindly.

"Overcome! I was blind, frantic with pain."

"I have heard," said the young man, "of people to whom the odor of certain flowers was painful on account of memories. If I had only known that my unfortunate roses had the power to rouse slumbering recollections of happier days, rather than revive such memories, I would have left them wither on their stems!"

"Memories," repeated Alma vaguely, "what had they to do with me? I don't understand you, Mr. Hunter."

"Was it not an overpowering rush of associations connected with the roses that brought on your attack of illness?"

Alma s[illegible] d a moment, then laughed merrily.

"No, In[illegible] it was the overpowering rush [illegible] concealed in one of the roses, [illegible] stung my poor lip so that I was a [illegible]ght for weeks and suffered from the poison, too."

"And it wasn't a memory?" Lawrence's tone was jubilant.

"No, but it is now, and a very disagreeable one. I am pledged hereafter to artificial roses."

"Let me have the life-long position of poison-taster to my queen," suggested Lawrence gallantly, and his queen, being in the mood, accepted him for the position.

THE SUN'S HEAT.

Would Melt a 200,000 Mile Icicle in a Single Second.

We believe that we are speaking the truth when we say that there is no more than one person in ten who has anything like a correct idea of what an icicle forty-five miles in diameter and 200,000 in length would look like. It is also true that there is no necessity for one being provided, with a mind that would enable him to form a correct conception of such a gigantic cylinder of ice, for there is no probability that any one will ever live to see an icicle even half so large, yet it is interesting to know that Sir John Herschel, the great astronomer, used an illustration in one of his articles on the intensity of the sun's heat. After giving the diameter of the great blazing orb, and a calculation on the amount of heat radiated by each square foot of its immense surface, he closed by saying that if it were possible for an icicle forty-five miles in diameter and 200,000 miles long to plunge into the sun's great burning sea of gas, it would be melted away and utterly consumed, even to its vapor, in less than one second of time! Such an icicle would contain more cubic yards of ice than has formed on the rivers and lakes of the United States during the past 100 years; its base would cover the average Missouri county, and its length would be almost sufficient to reach the moon.

A Member of the Force.

"A good many amusing incidents came out in our first examination of the police," says Col. John W. Ela, the apostle of local civil service reform. "I recall one incident which struck me as being particularly funny. We were putting one of the patrolmen through, and the big fellow fumed and fretted and perspired as if he were actually in the sweat box. At last I asked him this question: 'What is a felony?'

"The poor fellow looked stunned for a moment or two, but finally there came an expression of returning reason into his eyes, and in a triumphant tone he answered: 'A f'ing on the t'umb!'"—Chicago Record.

ECZEMA

From early childhood until I was grown my family spent a fortune trying to cure me of this disease. I visited Hot Springs and was treated by the best medical men, but was not benefited. When all things had failed I determined to try S.S.S. and in four months was entirely cured. The terrible eczema was gone, not a sign of it left. My general health built up, and I have never had any return of the disease. I have often recommended S.S.S. and have never yet known a failure to cure. GEO. W. IRWIN, Irwin, Pa.

A Boy Gets Entangled in Balloon Ropes and Makes an Ascension Against His Will

LINCOLN, Ill., Sept. 3.—A balloon ascension and parachute jump by Professor Fry, in connection with the Labor day attractions, furnished an exciting event not intended. James Irving, a boy of seventeen, was in the way during the inflation of the balloon, and was caught in the ropes when the balloon was released, and to the horror of the aeronaut, was above him and could not be reached. The voice of the aeronaut could be heard commanding him to lie still and hold on. The balloon ascended 2500 feet, when the parachute was cut loose, and the aeronaut and lad landed safely in a corn field, both thoroughly frightened.

RAILWAYS AND SHOPS.

Cashier L. L. Clizbe, of the Pittsburg, Resigns.

A Wabash Bridge Carpenter Injured—A Kansas Man Loses a Foot at Donelson—Local Gossip.

Lemuel L. Clizbe has tendered his resignation as local cashier of the Pennsylvania company, the same to take effect next Saturday. He has accepted a position as traveling salesman for Tenison & Co., of New York, a wholesale fruit importing house, and will travel over the Atlantic states. Mr. Clizbe has already commenced packing up his effects and will remove to New York next week. His successor has not been named. Several applications are under consideration, but the lucky one will not be known until Superintendent C. D. Law returns from Pittsburg, where he went this morning.

TRAMP INJURED.

Thomas Frances, of St. John, Kan., who was stealing a ride on Pittsburg freight train No. 76, Anthony J. Zerbach, conductor, fell off the cars at 3 o'clock this morning when the train was one and one half mile east of Donelson. One of his feet went under the wheels, injuring the member so badly that amputation at the ankle was necessary. Dr. Wilson, of Plymouth, the company's surgeon, performed the operation. Frances is now being cared for by the township trustee at Plymouth.

A MIRACULOUS ESCAPE.

C. D. Pierce, of Peru, Ind., a bridge carpenter in the employ of the Wabash, came up here yesterday to do some work for the company. While he was en route from the depot to the shops to report for duty, switch engine No. 267, Frank Catman engineer, struck Pierce, knocked him down and the truck wheels passed over his left foot. He was taken to the shop clerk's office, where Dr. M. F. Porter made an examination of his injuries and found them to consist of a cut on the heel and bruised and skinned face and hands. The shoe was literally torn to pieces and how the foot escaped more serious injury is indeed a miracle. Pierce was sent to Peru this morning, where he will spend a few days in the company's hospital.

Dallas will be his Waterloo sure."

"Do you never think of your poor husband?" piped a weak voice from a dim corner.

"Often," said the new woman. "I thought of him today, when I purchased that new china set; and yesterday, when he gave the baby green apples; and Wednesday, when he put sugar in the biscuits. Oh, I'm always thinking of him—poor soul!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Gray Gables Oysters.

A Buzzards Bay fisherman wants to put the label "Gray Gables Oysters" on his next crop of bivalves now growing off these shores, but he is in doubt about his privilege in the matter. He wonders if the president has copyrighted the title of his summer home for exclusive use, and if he would object, all other reasons aside, just "because." The scheme opens up limitless possibilities for the bay fishermen, who see wealth in that label for a trademark.—Baltimore American.

ONE NIGHT IN A CHINESE CITY.

"Why, I wouldn't take a million dollars for the fun I had on that trip," said Sands Foreman to a San Francisco Call reporter, "and it is worth repeating. You ought to go through China and stop over night in Canton. That was one of the experiences that nearly drove me crazy. Of course, a fellow has such things happen even in the midst of the most delightful times. All night long the local police, togged out like an Italian panorama, moved up and down the streets blowing horns and beating discordant cymbals for the purpose of driving away any thieves who might be operating in the city. About 3 o'clock they let up, and a fellow rolls over to get in a little sleep. In the midst of your dozing, or about sunrise, three fiends perch themselves on a wall across the street from the hotel, and with a sort of ram's horn about four feet long proceed to blow glad blasts to the rising sun. They seem to be trying to burst the horns, and keep it up two or three hours. This puts a stop to any further attempt to rest, so you have to get up and make the best of it. I took a trip in a sort of sedan chair throughout the city. Everybody moves about in that way. No one thinks of walking. The Chinamen who carried me, four of them, were dressed very slightly. I don't suppose there was enough clothes on the four to flag a hand-car. I had a little more on, happily, but about noon the perspiration was pouring off me in streams. Hot? You never saw anything like it. Why, I had to hang all my clothes out to dry when I got back to the hotel. Canton was too many for me, so I got over to Tokio."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials. Address, F. J. Nobody will be surprised to learn that Kokomo is the birthplace of a girl baby who is the fourteenth daughter of a fourteenth daughter of a fourteenth daughter. It was the name that did it.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

The sublime porte is rending its bloomers in the effort to escape being brought to account for the Armenian atrocities.

A most curious freak of nature has come to light as a result of an operation performed on Mrs. W. B. Kitselman, 223 West Jefferson street, for aggravated tumor at Hope hospital yesterday afternoon by Drs. Porter and Schrader. Mrs. Kitselman is the wife of the well known Nickel Plate conductor, and has been suffering from the affliction for a long time. When the tumor, which had formed in the abdominal regions, was removed, the physicians, on opening it, found a set of five almost perfectly formed teeth, besides a complement of hair sufficient to serve as the covering of an ordinary human head. The physicians say such discoveries are frequently made in similar operations, though the development of the teeth and the quantity of hair found is altogether out of the ordinary. The interesting subject was taken in charge by Dr. Drayer, the city bacteriologist. Mrs. Kitselman, so her husband tells THE SENTINEL, is rapidly recovering from her illness and doing nicely.

REFORMED ORPHANS' HOME.

Supt. Rettig Speaks of Their Twelfth Anniversary Tomorrow.

Tomorrow will occur the twelfth anniversary of the Reformed Orphans' home, located east of our city. These anniversaries are public festivals which have increased in interest and attendance from year to year. The superintendent and also the ladies of the Reformed churches of the city will try their utmost to make the day a pleasant one for all visitors. The ladies of the St. John's German Reformed and those of the Grace church will attend to the tables, while those of the Salem church will have the ice cream, lemonade, etc., stands in their care. The stands will be in the pleasant grove belonging to the home. Rev. J. Bachmann, D. D., chairman of the board of the home, will open the exercises with prayer and a short address, after which the Revs. F. O. Zeck, of Cincinnati, O., and A. K. Zartman, of Fort Wayne, will deliver addresses in the German and English languages respectively. For a change in the program a few songs will be sung by the children of the home and the fact that during this time the collection baskets will be handed around for the benefit of the home should not be kept secret and I hope that the visitors will bring with them warm hearts and open hands willing to give and thus be mindful of the Lord's words when He says: "Remember the orphans." The "Geeglein Band" has been engaged, and it will render good music. For those who cannot be with us during the day, due care has been taken and an entertainment will be held till 9 o'clock, in which they can share. An agreement has been made with the Street Car company to bring guests from any part of the city to the eastern entrance of the "race track" for five cents, where there will be a sufficient number of busses to convey them promptly to the home for another five cents.

Come! Come! All our friends and help to keep up this institution and help to encourage those who labor in this beautiful, but also difficult cause.

Yours Respectfully,
JNO. H. RETTIG, Supt.

In the evening a large crowd assembled in the park to indulge in dancing and witness the stereopticon exhibition of Rev. J. L. Leeper, pastor of Westminster church, for Labor day. A canvas covering 400 square feet was suspended between two upright posts thirty feet high and from a distance of eighty feet, despite a clear moonlight, beautifully distinct and clear cut pictures were produced. The First Regiment band discoursed the sweetest music, and the program was so arranged that music and pictures to alternate in periods of about fifteen to twenty minutes. In the periods of time allotted to him Rev. Leeper conducted the audience on short excursions to almost every part of the globe—Greenland, Lapland, Norway, the Rhine, Italy, Turkey, the Hawaiian and Cannibal islands of the Pacific ocean, besides giving one beautiful series of children's pictures, and many fine dissolving effects and views about the city of Fort Wayne. Many of the views shown were of Mr. Leeper's own production, he having mastered the photographic art in order to make views for his own use. Mr. Harry Tarman manipulated the apparatus. Upon the whole, the entertainment was instructive and delightful, and a good departure for Labor day.

B. F. Hutchison, of Jackson, Mich., was a guest of Miss Anna Miller at her home, on North Cass street, Sunday.
